A Victoria woman is in jail in Chiang Mai, Thailand, accused of fatally shooting her American common-law husband, George Patrick Dubie, a cult-like figure who at one time lived in a lavish waterfront estate in Hawaii.

Margaret Crane, 48, was arrested by Thai police after she allegedly shot Dubie three times in the chest with a .38 revolver, then fled in a car. She was later apprehended by police.

She faces the death penalty if convicted of premeditated murder.

The Bangkok Post reported that Crane told police that Dubie, 56, was abusive and occasionally hit her and their five children. She said the situation had worsened after Dubie became involved with a local Thai woman.

The shooting reportedly took place after a heated argument at a restaurant in downtown Chiang Mai, about 580 kilometres north of Bangkok.

Dubie, who used the first name Daniel, was described as a freelance journalist who had also worked for the United Nations in the aftermath of the 2004 tsunami.
He had attracted controversy and police attention in the past. Dubie was at one time wanted in connection with a theft ring in Hawaii, where he lived on a $1.7-million waterfront mansion.

An associate of Dubie named Jon Onuma, also known as Jade Yoshino, previously lived at the home and was a person of interest in the mysterious disappearance of a North Carolina woman named Kristen Modafferi, who vanished in 1997 from San Francisco.

The case was featured on an episode of the TV program America’s Most Wanted and is detailed on a website: www.findkristen.com.

“Daniel Dubie is a modern day Charles Manson and Jim Jones,” the website says. “He literally goes around the world telling people he is Jesus and actually convinces them to give him millions of dollars.”

Dennis Mahon, who runs the website to generate tips about the case and is a friend of the family of the missing woman, said Dubie was born in Santa Barbara and married millionaire Geri Cvitanovich, a co-founder of the Herbalife company, which sells health and weight-loss products.

For many years, Dubie lived at his wife’s waterfront home outside Honolulu near Diamond Head. After Dubie and Cvitanovich divorced, he was rumoured to have been married to a number of women.

“He supposedly has 17 children,” Mahon said. “He lived in B.C. for a while. I’ve known he was in Thailand for a couple of years. He ran a holistic spa in Chiang Mai.”

Dubie and Onuma also made a film about a conference of world religious leaders meeting in Bangkok in 2002.

“I know Dubie has about 10 aliases,” Mahon said. An article from a Honolulu newspaper, located on Mahon’s website, said Dubie was also known Sean Dubie, David Hart, Keoki Dubie, Christian Hart and Frances LaRue.

The 1983 article was about a man who sued Dubie, claiming he was brainwashed, psychologically tortured and physically beaten with a tennis racquet by Dubie to prove he was a “warrior.”

Mahon said he received an e-mail Tuesday from a man in Thailand who believes the woman who shot Dubie was named Gina Hart, which may have been an alias of Margaret Crane.

Pamela Greenwell, a spokesman with Foreign Affairs in Ottawa, said Tuesday that Canadian consular staff in Thailand have visited Crane in jail but further information could not be released because of the Privacy Act.

She could not comment on whether Crane had used the name Hart before she arrested in Chiang Mai.

My name is Robin Sharan and I am the owner and founder of The Annapurna Center for Self Healing in Port Townsend, Washington.

I knew these people from 11 years ago when Margaret made arrangements for Daniel to participate in The Annapurna Center for Self Healing. She did everything in her power to help him to heal of very serious conditions. He had had brain injuries when he had been in a coma for four months and would come to The Annapurna to recuperate. He likened himself to the central characters of the films, Powder and Phenomenon. He could be very charming and he was extremely intuitive and psychic so he could influence people with his very persuasive manner. For payment for Daniel’s Annapurna stays Margaret created The Elegant Simplicity of Reflexology, a 101 minute video on the benefits of the ancient Egyptian art of compression massage on the feet. Margaret was totally devoted to Daniel and he was the father to all their beautiful children. He was of Saudi Arabian and Swedish descent and over time, I observed that he treated women with decidedly less than excellent behavior. Margaret was always exhausting herself to please him and was rarely if ever honored for her devotion to Daniel and dedication to her children. All their children are amazingly adorable, kind, and very bright which is testimony enough for the dedication of Margaret Crane to her family. I understand that there was severe abuse committed by Daniel and that that could have been the very thing that caused Margaret to prevent it from ever happening again. She was only protecting her children from abuse. It is only reasonable that she be set free to take care of her children. Please have mercy on the children, set Margaret Crane free to raise her children.

I lost touch with them in the beginning of the year 2000. Again, Margaret Crane deserves to be set free to take care of her children.

hazel8500 (00:47:05):

Thank you Robin for your post, I am sure it will mean a lot to Margaret’s family to read those words, if they ever get to see them.

I’ve been doing some research into Daniel’s past and he certainly seems like a nightmare who has a knack for meeting lovely women. What you describe fits with other first hand accounts I’ve encountered through media sources.

I’ll be following this story, and will be adding more links and articles in the coming days to what I’ve learned. I invite you to visit any time to read, or comment, or even leave messages of support to the Crane family if you so wish.

I do hope your wishes for Margaret Crane and her children comes to pass.

Take care.

Dearest Ms. Robin Sharan, (and Hazel) 8/14/06

Hello! I have just read your brief letter and personal opinion/observation of George “Daniel” Dubie. I want to let you know that I sincerely respect your honest observations. Although, I must say I too knew the Dubie’s/people on a personal and professional level and the fact is Margaret”Jeana” Crane was one of Daniel’s followers and she was not a very stable and grounded woman emotionally and mentally. Margaret created this situation for herself and nobody...
Else. She is responsible for her actions. Daniel was never physically abusive to this woman and Despite what you think and know, and read all the gossip about Mr. Dubie. Mr. Dubie was a very well respected man in our community and did wonderful things for the people especially children around the world. Those children that Margaret claim to be Daniel’s are not so true. The five children were invitro fertalized, and the eldest daughter Angie Cruz was from a man from margaret’s past. Afterall, Margaret was a lesbian. Let it be known that margaret and Daniel were never a couple, although Margaret felt otherwise. Margaret was not Daniels type of woman at all. Thus In all fairness to the Dubie family and Ms. Crane let the facts be known. Margaret should pay for the crime that she committed. The laws should be obeyed and respected at any country one person is at. Thank you very much.

hawaiianeyes (18:50:26):

Dear Hazel and Sharan,

I believe the post above is writen by an ex-wife of Daniel. These are the stories that I knew he told her. This is the situation that he orchestrated for her to believe. However, careful consideration of the great body of factual evidence and testimony of folks that actually knew him does not support her one-sided “Daniel-as-a-misunderstood-saint” account.

Daniel had two very different behaviour patterns and was not an “emotionally grounded”, universally respected individual; he was erratic, constantly on the move, with more domestic situations than is almost imaginable, a convicted felon who served time in a correctional facility in Oahu. He has a long history of various cons that is well documented. His attempts with other’s help and money to white wash his image did not change his basic behaviour pattern. He consistently claimed that all the women that reported his abuse were “emotionally unstable, crazy” etc. This is the classic response of men who carry on double lives.

He was not arabic. He did not have a brain tumor. He claimed to me to have a brain tumor and presented me with a CAT scan. I believed his story that because he was muslim he could not get conventional treatments. I found the same brain tumor image while searching the internet. He just downloaded and printed it on a fake hospital form and pretended to be ill. When I confronted him with this fraud he admitted it to me and begged me to realize that it was the depth of his love for me that motivated him to do this. He was very skilled at motivating folks to do for him out of compassion.

Jeana on the other hand was devoted to him for over 20 years despite all the other women and marriages. Unfortunately, there is court testimony from a woman that Jeana facilitated some of his cons.

This is a complex case. Daniel had a brilliant and loving mind capable of great things that is certainly true. He also had a long history of using his charisma to abuse and intimidate others- physically, emotionally and otherwise. Those that loved him hoped that his bad pattern of deciet and lies would end and that he would focus on his true gifts. I also mourn his loss and believe that laws should be respected and obeyed. It is out of a deep and abiding love for this individual that I am utterly committed to truth- something that woefully he did not hold dear.

Dearest Hawaiian Eyes and others,
I highly suggest you seek psychiatrict treatment…You are an EXTREMELY obsesssed woman with Mr.Dubie. Please seek professional counseling. It will do you very well. Thank you very much for your sincere time and thoughtful consideration. Please leave Mr. Dubie and his family alone…Do you have any respect?

Wow, personal property, you are certainly making a lot of assumptions, especially about the “others” you include in this little rant.

You ask about respect? How about the things you said about ex wife number x? Martgaret Crane, or worse what you said about her CHILDREN! They aren’t really Dubie’s because they were the result of insemination? Do my blog readers really need to know the manner of which these beautiful children were conceived, even if true? Or how about negating their parantage simply beacuse science had a helping hand in their conception?

Shame on you!

You have every right to be upset over the death of the man you love, if you are who Hawain eyes thinks you are, but to slam the innocent children is intolerable. If you should return to this blog, please keep this in mind, I will not tolerate the defimation of children on this site.

Thank you.

“DEAREST” personalprosperity,

First let me make it clear to you that I “Thank you very much for your sincere time and thoughtful consideration”. I agree with Hazel, WOW. I do not have any personal beef with you. I am not going to presume to know you your state of mental health or cumulative trauma. But your skirts can not hide the truth. What I wrote is factual and absolutely accurate. Attacking my mental health is a bizarre diversion.

I am going to speak freely as the WWW allows us all citizens of the world a voice within the guidelines of decency and etiquette.

As my previous post shows GPD did not show me or my family respec. I will not go into that further here.

There was a real pattern of intimidation and ostracization that followed my reports of his behaviour to me. Sadly to say, I see that same pattern repeated in your email to Hawaiianeyes and others. Hawaiianeyes is not one entity. There are many authors that can attest to what “I” have written.

Please go on with your life and pursuit of “personal prosperity”. You have succeeded in that pursuit most remarkably.

For my part I value the peace that comes from finding and holding what is true in a spirit of love.

Aloha

For the sake of those beautiful and sweet children, I hope and pray that all who are concerned would help to extricate Margaret Crane from Thailand and bring her back to Canada to be exonerated from her ‘crime’ of killing in self defense and bring her back to her children to care for them. He was the one with the gun, she was able to get it and he told her if she had the guts then she could shoot. She always obeyed his wishes and in the heat of the moment I believe both were temporarily insane and she shot him. Margaret was not a lesbian. Margaret loved him more than life itself and I feel that she needs to get out of jail and take care of her children. Her punishment will be that of living with herself. The children need to come first.
In Brazil, as in many other places on this earth, a man can kill his wife, plead temporary insanity or whatever and never get charged. The woman could be not pretty enough, have not enough money, want to work outside the home, have an extra marital affair and these are all valid reasons to kill her. I do not condone the killing, I just want to bring some kind of perspective to this situation. Free Margaret Crane and let her take care of her children.

Hello Robin!
Margaret’s five children were definitely in-vitro fertilized at a medical center. Lilly Crane on Oahu and the rest elsewhere. These are not Mr. Dubie’s biological children at all. This can be confirmed in legal papers—Neither is Margaret’s eldest—Angie Crane a child of Daniels. Margaret was obsessed with Daniel and jealous of the other women she did it out of uncontrolled mental rage...Afterall, Margaret was Daniel’s secretary and she was fired. This prompted her to kill her boss. Daniel had no interest and children with margaret whatsoever. They were never married in any way, as well. I can also confirm that you, Ms. Robin was given the opportunity to reside at the Dubie’s North Shore ranch...Please respect the families.

Truth Prevails (16:31:49):

Dear Personal Prosperity

It all must be very hard for you to know that while Daniel was married to you Margaret conceived 3 children from him and other women also; and the many others he had affairs with during this time. While he may have told you horrible things about Margaret and all his other women he was also telling his other women horrible things about you..this was his pattern. I suppose you were also Mary Magdalene and the chosen one. The immaculate conceptions my dear were because he was still married to you and so stories had to be fabricated..no coitus, to keep your fountain of prosperity flowing in his direction. DNA testings prove otherwise..like real biological children.. Why do you continue to make him as a standing member of the community..it is a no brainer to go on line and see his many alias’ and the court records in the state of Hawaii alone for rape, felony, fraud, kidnapping, etc. If they were not his children why did he support her and the children and pay all their school fees...and why his name on their birth certificates?

Arlene (21:38:35):

I agree with Personal prosperity about the 5 invitro fertalized children. For I was an employee of Geri and Daniel’s and it is in legal documentation. Geri and Daniel have records along with hospital papers. Furthermore, margaret and Daniel were never married. Robin perhaps your best bet would to speak with Geri she will explain the truth to you.

27 08 2006

Dear Arlene,

Beware (as I mentioned earlier) I have seen forged “hospital papers” documents with my own eyes and accepted them at face value. I found out later they were totally fraudulent.

I think that prior ranting accusations posted on this site regarding the question of the paternity of Jeana’s children crossed the line of civil discourse and that this is a matter that the courts will adjudicate in good time based upon court ordered, independent and objective scientific methods through standard paternity testing (which can be done even without the father by comparisons among the siblings).

Despite the outcome, these children have suffered the loss of at least a “father figure” in their lives and now the incarceration of their mother as well to a horrible crime (secretary shoots boss??) and/or human tragedy (scorned faithful partner of 3 decades snaps??).

Support for Angel in her care of these innocents should be the principal focus.

Please show respect for the children.

Arlene F. (11:22:10):

There is no reason for forged “hospital papers” here. Our office has copies of legal documentation of Jeana’s invitro fertalization done at a clini on Oahu. Thesse are not fraudulent. If Margaret wants a DNA or paternity done she can do so for Daniel is not the father of Margarets children. My best wishes to Margaret. Ms. Robin Sharan you may contact Geri at your convenience to shed some light on this situation and to further upadate you on this case. Best Wishes and Good Luck!

28 08 2006

hawaiianeyes (14:23:37):

Arlene,

With all due respect, there are plenty of reasons for forged/misleading/incomplete documents regarding this issue…..

There were also children born in rural Canada to Daniel and Jeana. What she agreed to legally declare and why is beyond the scope of this site.

The truth will prevail.

Udates are available regarding this important and tragic case from those perhaps closer to Margaret than Geri.

It is kind of you to send best wishes to Margaret. I understand that she is filled with remorse.

Foremost, all gentle hearted readers will mourn the tragedy that all of the affected children endure, especially the adult children who have lost forever a most remarkable father who was above all greatly loved.

hazel8500 (20:49:34):
Margaret’s story is no less than Shakespearian in the depth of its tragedy. I truly wish her the strength she needs to pull through this soundly and safely.

Her story has touched me deeply, even though I don’t know her or any one who does, beyond the words left by some of the visitors to this blog.

I can’t begin to understand what she was, is or will be going through.

One thing seems clear to me at the moment, her good works in the past are affecting her present, and her children’s welfare for the better.

She has friends spanning the globe, bringing messages, small comforts and legal services.

Her children are together, members of the community of Victoria are pulling together to help them with the little things you need to start over. Things like cutlery and dishes, and moral support. And her eldest, fortuitously named Angel is by reputation, a well grounded lovely women with great potential and a good job. Young as she is, her arms have the capacity to hold her siblings and support them through this difficult time.

I truly hope Margaret considers these measures of accomplishment when struggling with her emotions of remorse and guilt. The fruits of her labour as described above are beautiful, kind, and selfless.

My sympathies also lie with Daniel’s ex wife who may have divorced him for whatever reason’s but obviously never wished for his death. It must be a shock to lose someone you love in such a brutal way, and then to have to watch the world sit in judgement of him, their lifestyle and personal choices.

I strongly feel Daniel Dubie’s death was the end result of a series of events put in to motion by Dubie himself. The veracity of this will become apparant when the truth finally emerges.

I wish all the people involved the fortitude to deal with the fall out of Daniel Dubie’s multiple lives, and singular death.

Most sincerely,
Hazel.

You are so right Iris. You words are beautiful and show a beautiful person that I am sure he loved very much. Daniel was a great hero to me in my life and my best friend for a time. I miss him every day and there is a hole in my heart.
that will never heal. I am so sorry for your loss. Daniel called me in May and was very earnestly telling me of his path of transformation to a higher self. I know that he loved his Thai home.

Please do not be offended at discussions of his past. There was a time when I only knew of the past what he told me. Then I personally experienced problems that forced me to turn away from him. This was the hardest thing I have ever done and it still breaks my heart because I still do love him very much. I hope you will have some compassion for women of his past who also loved him very much but faced difficult troubles. I fear that Jeana may have faced problems we cannot know. Nothing can forgive her actions but I understand that she is filled with remorse and this may be because despite the horrible trouble that caused her action that night, she may also have still deeply loved Daniel. I do not know of course. But I would plead for compassion for all affected.

Even when I had to fight against this man I loved so much he told me he loved me still and had compassion for my suffering. He wrote of his sorrow to cause me such suffering and did a great deal to make things right with me. I respect him for that very much. Sadly I could not trust him again and could not find the grace to forgive him. I regret that now.

You were blessed to know him and I agree that there is no one else like him. Aloha-love and peace to you always.

Thank you for your opinion. You are entitled to your opinion. I respect that. I am not going to get into a flame war with you “You need help”. But I will honor you with a sincere response.

I am glad you have read what I have written on various sites. It all comes from my heart.

We cannot know what would come from Jeana’s heart right now because she sits muted in a Thai jail cell. Part of why I have chosen come out of the shadows to share such private thoughts and feelings and face the obvious reality of possible ridicule, is to share what I know because I feel that she and others still silent may have suffered a similar dilemmas or torments. Many courageous women from his past have recently come forward and shared their own struggles on these same sites. Our voices have common elements. I have gained strength and new ways of “moving on” from this remarkable www vehicle of communication. I find it hard to believe that all of us deserve to be marginalized by labels or name calling.

I would agree that one effect this person had on my life has been profound and lasting trauma. If there was a medical treatment that could erase that, I would be the first to humbly seek it. I have in fact sought and received all appropriate medical care and counseling and benefited from the process. I have been declared quite fit and sane. I have read books on related topics and learned that what I experienced, sadly, is not rare in today’s world.

While he was as dear and remarkable as Iris describes, I saw him capable of great deceit and horrifying actions. I don’t assume that every person he encountered had the same experience. Still there is real evidence that some were affected as I was. I saw him pit woman against woman. Sadly I think that continues.

If I were to describe on line exactly what happened to me over the course of time of being in his inner circle, I think that 9/10 women would consider what I have written and how I responded to be exceptionally restrained. I would suggest that the ability to walk away from abuse, take action, stand up against it, fight through available legal mechanisms without resorting to hatred all requires great courage, love, mental discipline and dignity.
Hawaiin Eyes Sed; “I would suggest that the ability to walk away from abuse, take action, stand up against it, fight through available legal mechanisms without resorting to hatred all requires great courage, love, mental discipline and dignity.”

I would certainly agree with that statement Hawaiin Eyes. And I’d also like to take the time to commend you on your continued compassion in the face of, well everything I’ve witnessed so far.

I’m pleased that you are finding ways to deal with the trauma you have experienced. I can empathise with your struggle and I know there is no miracle cure out there to erase all that’s happen. There is only courage and determination and honesty to face what must be faced, and sift from that facing, what to keep, what to discard.

I think I can relate to the difficulty of loving someone, and being split between recognising the good they’ve brought into my life while simultaneously recognising the harm that came with it. It’s that kind of sifting and sorting I speak of. How to keep the baby while throwing out the bath water and all that.

I wish you continued strength, compassionately yours,
Hazel.

What a tragic and unbelievable situation for Jeana, especially her children. Her five children will surely grow up quickly. Given that she committed a crime and killed someone in Thailand, Her life is pretty much over. Thailand is a very very strict and spiritual country. The Thai people will probably not let her go because of what she did.

Hello Ness P. Good to meet you.

I’ve not yet had the pleasure of visiting Thailand myself, but have known lots who have who share your view. I understand that foreigners accused of committing crimes in Thailand have a special place in Thai culture. And not a favoured one, can’t blame them.

I hope the wisdom of the nation will consider the extraordinary circumstances surrounding the shooting, including the possibility that Jeana was possibly acting in self defence, and may have been suffering terribly spiritually, psychologically and emotionally. Seeing as the victim was not Thai, but North American with a former Canadian BC residence, I do hope Thai officials will consider letting Canada foot the bill of the trial and incarceration until guilt or innocence is determined by a jury of Jeana’s peers. After all she is a Canadian herself and as such is she not our responsibility?

Hello Ness P. All I know is what little has been let out in the media. I don’t believe anyone knows for sure what truly transpired between these two spouses, whether it was murder or self-defense. But those are questions that will be answered at trial. I know Mr. Dubie was killed in Thailand and not in America. And I understand that he was accepted among many Thai’s as a dear friend. I don’t know what the conditions in an American jail is like, and I don’t think it much matters in this discussion as we aren’t talking about extraditing Margaret Crane to America, we are talking about returning her to Canada to stand trial. fruittbatt (00:06:51):

Hi,

it is great to see all the support that is going to Angel Crane for her brave and loyal actions in bringing up her siblings. Thanks, Hazel for making this forum available via your blog.

I live in Thailand, near Chiang Mai, but have not yet been able to discover where Margaret/Jeana is being held (not the women’s prison). In reply to Ness, and with all due respect, newspapers here claim that Pim was at Starbucks at the time of the shooting, which took place about 600-700 metres away. If this report is true, she could not possibly have witnessed the shooting, which took place in a different street in Chiang Mai.

If a crime is committed in Thailand, then (I am told) the trial must be held here, unless the accused person is also wanted for similar offences in their country of origin, and that country seeks extradition. I have given the name of Kim Pate to people in Canada who were originally seeking legal representation for Margaret/Jeana’s. Kim apparently advocates on behalf of women in prison and is a well-known figure in this field. I don’t know what happened to this connection, but if anyone on the spot would like to approach Kim, she might be helpful in advising whether extradition is possible. I have to hand this baton over to someone else out there as my own time is scarce with thesis-writing commitments for the next few months.

Gandhi said an eye for an eye makes the whole world blind. Women all over the world take abuse because they don’t have the means to make it on their own, financially, mentally or emotionally or even socially. I say the time has arrived to stop this insanity of letting men continue the mental torture of women. I remember that Geri said to me “if you only knew what was going on…” Geri, He tortured you as much as anyone else, why else would you have divorced him? This was in the early part of 2000. I saw great disfunctionality. Pitting one woman against the other, lies and deception. He knew how to elevate and then cut people down and use his charm to soothe difficult situations. Margaret needs to be back in Canada and needs to stand trial in Canada if for only to answer questions about the missing North American women.
It is extremely valuable to get the entire story out according to Margaret and to inform men who are abusers that they cannot continue their crimes against women, no matter how charming or charismatic a man might be.

Jessica, I have banned you from making comments to this blog in part for your own sake. I understand you are in great pain and anguish, and I suspect you have every reason to be. The things you are trying to post indicate you are going through a terrible time. This time will eventually pass, though you will never have Daniel back in the world, you will always have the best part of him in your heart. I am not posting your comments, because I have hope you will someday come to realize how inappropriate and hurtful they are in this forum, and I also hope you feel relief that I did not post your angry hurtful words when I received them.

I would like to offer you this thought; Your relationship to Daniel was all your own, and what ever transpired bewteen him and others will never change the nature of the relationship you enjoyed with him.

At the same time, nothing that you can say or do will change other people’s oppinions of him as they knew him.

I did not know him, and I trust your version of Daniel is a true account of him as you knew him. One rather painful lesson I have learned in life is that sometimes we only get to know one facet of a person, and miss out on others. No one can be all things to any one person but themselves, and even that’s a stretch.

Please don’t allow the controversy over this man, destroy the tenderness you have in your heart. I am sure he appreciates your loyalty, but would rather you not twist in this kind of inner turmoil.

Un plug from the computer, go find someone you care about and get yourself a hug.

Sincerely,
Hazel.

hawaiianeyes (22:11:34) :

Dear Hazel,

Thank you again for your blog site as a forum for this discussion that can hopefully facilitate greater understanding, compassion and healing.

I share here a recent email from Daniel in the hopes that it will bring some comfort and healing to others who grieve now.

“My Dearest Angel,

Please go to: http://positivepause.com/en

On this day of Giving Thanks I must share with you my hearts gratitude for the Sacred gift of what our relationship means to me. You represent the hope, faith, trust and true testimony to the power of love that most people only dream about. You are right, our story would make such an empowring book…and one day I do think we should share it with the world…perhaps when I am through this maze and on the clear path of my new life. For the time being I am grateful to be able to now access the clarity that comes from this new found transformation of love and truth that the peaceful beating of our hearts in tune bring. Thank you, Thank you, Thank you for the wings that shelter me and give me strength to fly.

Eternal Love, Gratitude and Peace,

Daniel”

I think that I now understand that the feelings he shared were not specific for me but for a number of women that shared a place in his heart. That is hard to say because it would mean that I was not his solitary “soul mate” as he told me but perhaps for true healing there are some of us who need to embrace this greater truth.
I do accept the good and the bad, as it were, together and I will not deny one or the other. I saw both and perhaps the good was all the more profoundly moving because of the contrast.

On some deeper level, I wonder if all this profound and soulful attention he lavished on me (and OTHERS, it seems many others) over the years was an intoxicating type of mind control/mental enslavement ultimately allowing abuse. This sounds rather cynical to say but from the years and what I now see as common patterns in his behaviour to women, I wonder. I do think there was a genuinely beautiful person in him but I think that he also learned how to harness this and use this to some personal advantage. This would be the mode of behaviour of a sociopath who does not consider/understand the ramifications of his behaviour. Again these are harsh questions and I do not deny my love for him but at my core I want truth in all aspects of my life so I ask and I seek and I speak.

Regarding Jeana and extradition, I think that there are various legal considerations. First, as a convicted felon, George Patrick Dubie, aka Daniel Dubie was not allowed to enter or live in the Kingdom of Thailand. This he must have concealed from Thai authorities. All immigration documents include the question of criminal convictions and exclude US felons from entering Thailand. The fact that he was in the Kingdom illegally and as a result of fraud should be raised. Second, if Jeana has any material knowledge pertaining to outstanding criminal investigations in US or Canada she should request audience with US or Canadian consulate personnel to provide such testimony. This may aid in successful negotiation for her extradition.

Aloha,

Dear hawaiin Eyes,
What a wonderful way to wake up, thank you for that positive pause site.
I also am quite moved that you would share such a personal note from Daniel to you. Thank you.

With regards to how Daniel felt towards you and various soul mates, I invite you to consider the term anima and what it may have meant to Daniel and the way he related to you and other women.
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Anima

I do not mean to cause you or anyone any pain, but I really think this is an opportune moment to introduce a term to some of the readers who may not be familiar with it, and maybe should be.
Love Bombing;
Definitions
The Watchmane Expositor http://www.watchman.org/cults/lovebomb.htm
I would also like to share with You Hawaiian Eyes my own experience of being “Love Bombed”, and how it shaped the course of my life.
I was led to believe as a very small child that I was deeply, unconditionally loved by this “Family Group” I was fostered with. They managed to separate me from my actual family through fraudulent and even illegal means. What followed was seven years of abuse and dare I say indoctrination to a very unhealthy life style. Still at a very young age, I made a difficult decision to leave these people and when explaining to the head of the household (a very charismatic woman/mother figure) why I had to leave and how much I appreciated her caring for me all those years, she turned on me and said she never loved me, I was just a disgusting child yadda yadda yadda. I was devastated. This took the rug out from under my feet. It would be many years later, that I could actually even accept she even meant what she said, and even more years until I discovered the term “Love Bombing”.
To this day I am split right down the middle in regards to this woman. On one hand I never outgrew the immense respect I had for her, I still feel a great deal of love for her, and dare I say it even gratitude? Then on the other hand I am horrified at how she used me, lied to me, I have a hard time sifting fact from fiction with regards to who she was, or how she and I actually related.
I could have gone right out of my mind trying to reconcile these two experiences of this one woman. I finally decided to allow myself to go ahead and feel both things at once, one was no more valid than the other.
This acceptance has resulted in a great deal of peace for me now that I am no longer fighting my own feelings on the matter. I really hope sharing this will help others reading this who may be going through a similar experience today. Wishing you much peace and happiness, Hazel.

Thank you Hazel for your remarkably “spot on” and considered response! I really appreciate your thoughts and your own personal experience that demonstrate the power of “love” to repress or manipulate for years.

I will carefully consider this over the next few days, but on first read it seems to be a very good fit and an exceptionally useful analysis.

Thailand resident (03:26:32):

Hazel,

It’s interesting to note all the remarks re Margaret as I have only met her in the recent past.

Margaret has challenges in a Thai jail, as she is vegetarian, and she has very few people she can communicate with in English. I don’t think she’d mind me saying this. I am speaking as her recent friend, not having known Daniel and not trying to defend her or accuse her, but just be her friend when she needs one. She is getting daily visits but is allowed only one per day. It’s not easy to communicate through a barred window on a phone, but those are things everyone must deal with.

The jail is not that bad at all inside and they have different classes. I am not at liberty to say much more.

I have heard that her lawyer feels she will get a fair trial here and that there is some hope for her. Whoever doesn’t think she deserves it, should consider what Jesus said, “Let her/him who is without guilt cast the first stone.” Jesus said this to an adulteress. It sounds like George/Daniel/Shon had quite a few women consecutively, and he had quite a few names to avoid the law.

Have you read Sarada’s story? Sarada has put her story on the internet http://www.karunabooks.net/library/long_letter_to_a_friend.pdf Shon(Daniel/George) appears on page 54-85. He had remarkable powers to deceive others which did not come from God. Jesus healed the sick. Shon used his powers to deceive women, and was calling himself Jesus? Pretty sick if you ask me.
Read Sarada’s appendix (last page) to see the powers Shon had. Amazing isn’t it? It’s in pdf so I can’t copy it here. He could make things appear and disappear? No wonder these women were mesmerized! Few mortals can do this but to some it has been given these powers of darkness and they come from the dark, evil side. It’s best to stay clear of these people altogether as they have ill intentions for using these powers. Eventhough someone does many good things, that doesn’t give them the right to abuse people and to abuse children. I agree with Jesus who said such a person should have a millstone tied around his neck and be thrown into the sea! Mark 9:42 “Whoever causes one of these little ones who believe in me to sin, it would be better for him if a great millstone were hung round his neck and he were thrown into the sea.”

I am wonderung that with all this reported abuse, how did Shon get away with not being arrested for it? But now his abuse has ended and some of the women forget the abuse and remember only the good things. Well that’s good if they can do it but why make him a saint because of that!

Does anyone have a photo of George/Daniel/Shon other than a dead corpse on the internet? Seems he was such a handsome guy, but nobody has even bothered to show who this great guy is!

It seems he abused some with lies and some in other ways of deception. Those who want to remember the good things should not try to convince everyone how good he is. Those who remember the bad must learn to forgive themselves and George, learn a lesson from it all and get on with a new life as best they can.

I suppose Sarada will be accused of lying as well. But I tend to believe her version as it seems she has left the flock and seems to be confessing her role and her deception in the whole part. Maybe more people need to do this to get themselves released from the deception that went on. If they keep hanging on to their deceptions they will just open themselves up to more deceptions in the future.

I hope the readers are not too quick to accuse and judge Margaret. There are so many versions even in the news, that contradict one another. Even the news is based on gossip it seems. She obviously misses her children but it seems they are doing pretty good in Canada from the news reports we hear. There IS HOPE for Margaret - all those with bad wishes for her have no power over her - let them swallow their bitterness and get on with their lives. Margaret doesn’t need to hear from them, and so an address should not be given out on the internet as far as I am concerned. She will get in touch with those she needs to by herself.

From a well wisher to Margaret and all of you to get on with a new life and be free!

hazel8500 (10:12:01):

Thank you so very much for this update and sage advice. I am sure many readers will find relief hearing about Margaret’s welfare and the reassurance she is being treated fairly and will continue to be treated so. If you have an occasion to read this, please could you pass my warm wishes to Margaret. Also not sure if she is aware, but there will be a all ages concert/dance fund raiser next month in Victoria. Proceeds will go to her children. I wish her peace of mind, and I hope she is aware of how the Victoria community is pulling through for her kids.

Sincerely,

Hazel.

hazel8500 (10:15:46):

Also, I look forward to reading Sarada’s story. I do believe it is important for those who have experienced such things to educate the rest of us about the dangers and pitfalls that are out there, disguised as something else.
Dear Thailand Resident,

Thank you for your comments and for your compassioned care of Jeana.

Regarding your questions, he was in fact arrested for his fraud and charged with multiple felony counts and convicted and served time in Hawaii.

If you are wanting to see a proper portrait of George Patrick Dubie, aka Daniel etc, I posted one on another forum out of disgust at seeing all the deceased images. I would not describe him as an overly attractive man but his gaze was quite a gentle mesmerizing one with his wide set dark eyes. His carriage was that of a large, gentle, humble sort of person. I think first impressions of him were usually of that nature as I saw perfect strangers respond to him in a friendly trusting way.

Please scroll down to Post #308 on this link

I never saw any disappearing tricks and I think that Sarada’s experience was long ago. More recently, 1998 to present, I think that his approach was mental, psychological, spiritual and emotional emeshing with his “love” interests. His deceptions were more calculated distortions of fact or outright misreprenetations designed to elict sympathy care or desired actions. For example, he presented me with a CAT scan showing his brain tumor, it was not his scan at all. There were so many things like this. I worked really hard at confronting him with his deceptions when I finally got a handle on it. He tearfully asked for my forgiveness, more than once down on his knees. I wanted to believe that he was sincere about following a new path of “love and truth” in his life but I could not continue to associate with him on the same level.

I will never really completely understand all this I am sure but for now I accept the good and the bad and soldier on. As you say

“Those who remember the bad must learn to forgive themselves and George, learn a lesson from it all and get on with a new life as best they can”

I think that Hazel’s analysis of “love bombing” fits well.

Thank you also for kind encouragement to seek a “new life and to be [set] free”.

I agree.

“You shall know the truth and the truth will set you free”

Aloha,

Hazel,

Thanks so much for posting these e-mails. I take it you are in Victoria. I will make sure Margaret knows what the community there is doing for her children, and I am sure she will appreciate it very much.

Sarada’s story is indeed very sad, but I am thankful to her too, for putting it on the internet. If there is anyway to contact her I too would be interested to thank her and even to answer her question in her appendix. How did he do these things? I do have some opinions on that.

Thailand resident (18:59:31):

Hawaiianeyes,

I fully agree with your statement, “You shall know the truth and the truth will set you free”.

May it be so for Margaret and all those involved in the history of George Patrick Dubie.

Interesting that he didn’t use his magic later on. There must have been others that saw it, I would think. According to Sarada, he would have a number of people involved in these things, as well as in finding “angels” for him. I mean, when someone gets his own best friends to find “angels” (beautiful women) for him (as Daniel reportedly did) so that he can seduce them and use their names to buy houses, etc., and when these friends go along with it, that is a very big deception that we are talking about.

So he must have been a very smooth talker and had special spiritual powers that these people succumbed to. In my opinion, it is more than just a humble, nice guy, who knows how to play sympathetic games with people. I am glad you were able to see through that part of it and that you were able to confront him on that. Bravo to you! But for the others who couldn’t see that, it seems there was a spirit of deception that made them willing to go along with something that their conscience should have told them was wrong.

Best wishes in pursuit to knowing the truth and being set free!

Kay,

Does anyone know if Margaret is getting a fair representation in the courts in Chiang Mai, Thailand?

According to Sarada’s story, Margaret (Maggie) was seemingly brainwashed by lies and deception.

I understand Margret is now being advised to plead guilty to murder in self defense - is that such a wise thing? Was she not mentally unstable and was she not abused, deceived, and betrayed by her own husband?

In Chiang Mai, there is not even a Canadian consulate. Everytime I have tried to get help I have to make an appointment with the consul’s agent. I have wondered if there really is a consul, because nobody has ever seen her or him that I know of.

What kind of people does Margaret have working on her behalf in Chaing Mai? I am here and I will be asking a lot of questions. I hope you are doing the same.

She wept last time I saw her in prison and she said she had nobody to talk to in English within the prison. Her conversations are limited to 10 minutes a day to one person a day through a glass window.

She seemed afraid to say too much because the guard was watching her and the guard said she can’t talk about the prison.

She was given permission to practice yoga but then was suddenly told she couldn’t do it anymore. She didn’t know why.

I didn’t want to say anything on the internet for the sake of her children, but I am hoping this will put some pressure on you and others to do something.

Thank you for sending your e-mail via this website and now I have written to you already and am waiting your reply.

Hello Kay, I have been advised that Margaret does have representation, things seem to have gotten tighter for her, I just heard her Yoga priviledges have been taken away, no explanation as to why.

She is able to have visitors but only for ten minutes a day. I also understand she is a vegetarian and having some difficulty with the food in prison. Friends I hear have been bringing her things like food and letters.

I believe she does have an advocate in Thailand, I will try to find the info for you.

Kay Danes (19:16:35):

I have been getting a number of emails from people asking me why FPSS would even bother to list Margaret Crane on our website. So I thought I’d just post a quick explanation here for everyone to digest.

It is up to the individual what they believe is right and wrong. Everyone is entitled to their own opinions.

Why do I not support the death penalty for Margaret Crane… given that it is alleged that she killed another human being…. the answer can be found, save repeating myself at this link…

In all cases listed on our website… we believe that ‘Everyone is entitled in full equality to a fair and public hearing by an independent and impartial tribunal, in the determination of his rights and obligations and of any criminal charge against him” Universal Declaration of Human rights.

Margaret Crane will be judged by a Court in Thailand and the findings will be absolute. I do not believe that there is any excuse or justification that can be used to excuse/justify a person for killing another human being. But I think that in this case, it can show WHY [perhaps] they commit a crime. Those factors ought to be a ‘consideration’ to a final ‘determination’ and thus enable an appropriate sentence and call for appropriate levels of rehabilitative care. I think that a prisoner of western origin would be better off receiving such care in a western facility because the Thai prisons are not fully equippt for rehabilitation by western standards.

Ultimately, if Margaret Crane is found guilty in a court of law and sentenced accordingly [to the charge of manslaughter], then it would be better for her to be transferred in accordance with proper legal process [International Prisoner Transfer Scheme], in due course, to a facility in Canada where she would be able to have access to proper rehabilitative care and family support.

Eventually, many prisoners are released back into society … and I for one hope that before they are, they recieve proper rehabilitative care. Don’t you?

Kay Danes (19:07:43):

Hi,

Can I also add that I speak from experience. I was once held hostage in a gulag at the mercy of a paranoid Communist regime, where I saw unspeakable human rights violations acted out each day in a place where the outside world can’t hear the cries for help.

I was one of the lucky ones… my Government fought hard for my and my husband’s release.

But I know what it feels like to be trapped in uncertainty.. and alongside ‘real’ criminals… whom many no one would give the time of day too. But I learned to look past human frailty and failure… to see that everyone makes mistakes… humans are not perfect… and ultimately their families suffer a tremendous amount of heartache! Nothing is ever black or white.

Thanks Hazel for the lovely encouragement… I do appreciate it.

I’ve just sent an email off to one of Margaret’s regular visitors to ask what the best way is should people want to send care packages. I’ll post here as soon as I know. thanks for your kindness and understanding.

And my pre-empted response to all those about to send me hate mail again, just save it will you. If you don’t want to support Margaret then don’t. If you don’t want to care about helping someone who has lost their way.. then don’t care. But keep your nasty emails to yourself because I have better things to do with my time then listen to your dribble. If I have compassion enough to try to help others, then that’s none of your business to attack me. Perhaps oneday, your loved one will need help… and then you might see that life is not so black and white.

Perhaps someone can help me with some questions I have:

Is Daniel really dead?

Is there a death certificate or obituary? Where is he buried?

Or is Jeana taking the rap for him going “underground”?
He once told me not to worry if I heard stories of his death that he had gone “underground” before and would do it again.

What were all his rantings 1998-2001 about a coming jihad against the US?

Why did he name 2 of his sons Jamil?

What is the significance of the book of Jamil?

Why did he tell me that he loves=d that I was so Persian (Iranian) meaning that I was Arabic like him (his claim that he was from UAE) but stupid (as Saudis and UAE people consider the Persian empire to have fallen because they have honor but not the great cunning and intelligence of the Bedoin peoples of the Gulf)?

Why did he have photos of himself with Arabic garb and insist I call him Ahmed?

Why has Felicia (probably the closest of anyone in the world to him) just recently married to an Iranian and reportedly moved to Iran?

What does Jeana know about all this?

Dear Haiwaiin Eyes,

I think I recognise a bit of what you are going through right now, albeit under different circumstances.

Its like being hit over and over again with these little bits of the puzzel and trying to figure out how to put all the pieces together. Worse, you’re forced to do it all between flashes of lightening on a dark stormy night w/ no working electricity.

Don’t panic, you have time, and the answers will come.

You’ve raised some very interesting concerns here. I have no answers for you but I will look, and I invite anyone else following this to also look, and if anyone has any concrete proof of Daniels death, certificate or burial arrangements please let us know.

Another thing Hawaiin Eyes

>>>Why did he tell me that he loves=d that I was so Persian (Iranian) meaning that I was Arabic like him (his claim that he was from UAE) but stupid (as Saudis and UAE people consider the Persian empire to have fallen because they have honor but not the great cunning and intelligence of the Bedoin peoples of the Gulf)?

Why did he have photos of himself with Arabic garb and insist I call him Ahmed?>>>>

I have a guess about this, Daniel was a master of fantasy, by saying these things to you, he was pulling you in to his fantasy by tying you to him through empathy and by giving you an “honored” place by his side. Hawaiin Eyes, what Daniel likely saw in you was a bright light, he recognised you were a special woman, probably more so than you ever knew yourself, but he wanted to possess all that was special and good. And therefore he wanted to posess you, and all the other “angels” he came across.

Also, Hawaiin Eyes, I believe he told you he loved you, because in his own way, he probably did.

Sarada describes a similar method used by Daniel towards her. Only it was a komono. this komono wasn’t even his, he appropriated it from someone else in the house, but told Sarada it was a gift from some mystic he met.

What I am seeing is that Daniel was a seeker of knowledge and wisdom but his heart wasn’t in the right place. He likely was experimenting with all sorts of esoteric wisdom, including eastern western northern and southern. Arabic culture is ancient and beautiful, and he was likely attracted to the exotic nature of the culture. I believe the Arabic garb, the Komono and various other guises of Daniel’s including his aliases were working props to underscore his “stories”, and to give them credence and power.

Another thing I have been finding, is that Daniel’s core group described in Sarada’s document had ties to other cultic groups, scientology for one, MLM pyramid operations for two (we know which one 😅)

I am positive that Daniel had his hand in a number of cultic like groups, and was well versed in how to manipulate others for personal prosperity.

And it will all come out…

What is the significance of the book of Jamil?

Began looking into this Hawaiin Eyes google search, didn’t give much http://www.google.ca/search?hl=en&q=%22book+of+Jamil%22&btnG=Search&meta=

By following the info in this document I was able to determine who this Jamil is, He’s an Islamic leader from the Black Panther party of the 60’s Atlanta Georgia. His name was H. Rap Brown, Jamil ibn Darraj is his Islamic name.

Here’s some info from Wikipedia

I’m still looking for The book of Jamil if anyone has any resources, that’d be great.

Dear Hazel,

Thank you!

You have put all this in a clear context that makes a lot of sense to me.

“It is like being hit over and over again with these little bits of the puzzel and trying to figure out how to put all the pieces together. Worse, you’re forced to do it all between flashes of lightening on a dark stormy night w/ no working electricity.

Don’t panic, you have time, and the answers will come”

I do have faith that the answers will come.

I have already been enriched by your previous comments about “love bombing” tacticians and reading Sarada’s account and talking/writing to others that had been run over by this fellow. There is great joy in “you shall know the truth and the truth shall set you free”.
Victoria woman faces murder charge in Thailand « hazel8500

I can never get back those years. But I am at peace and I do have a wonderful life that is very full and increasingly productive. I put these questions on line to try to find the answers to both put my own psyche back together as well as with the thought that it might help someone else suffering somewhere in confused silence as I was for years.

Peace,
HI

No but those years were certainly not wasted. I like to think of past experiences as seeding our future, its how we deal with our pasts in the present that will really determine the outcome.

Its the joy of (truthful) discovery you describe in your last comment, that is worth all the work.

My present is informed by my past, and my future in dependent on how I work my “present” today. Or at least, that’s what I like to think.

I wonder how his Thai widow is holding up?

I certainly hope her children have been provided for by Dubie. It doesn’t seem like his Canadian children have been, (by him, that is)unless his will is in probate or something. Has there been a will discussed, do you know if there is a death certificate?

Thank you!

Hi all, I appreciate all of your posts. All of us had our own experiences with George Patrick Dubie. All of us that knew him intemately, loved him and knew he was like no other. You all must agree with me, that we also came to fear him, question him, doubt him and eventually got away from him in one way or another. Either he left or we left and then finally, he was gone from all with his passing. There’s no easy answer as to how we deal with our inner emotions and lasting torment of being involved with him, for me, it’s our children that helped me through.
I do have info on the Jamil subject though.........
Being the mother of his first born son, Jamil Kaleo Shoblom, born 04/12/78
I would like to shed some light on this. I only saw Dubie, three or four times during my pregnancy with Jamil. I,
Karen, choose the name by myself, without his knowledge at all. Jamil is Arabic for Handsome. I just liked the name.
I was living on Oahu at the time, so I wanted a Hawaiian middle name, therefore, Kaleo, which means the voice/music. My kids (3) did have the last name Dubie for awhile, but I had it changed back to my maiden name. I’ll write later, but want to see if this message comes through. Last time I tried to post here it didn’t show up. Later, goneaway (18:48:34):

I was once a friend og Maggie Clinchy, Margaret Crane, Jeannie Crane.. whatever alias she happened to be using at the time…

She left one of her daughters in my care with poisoned food so that when the child died, I would be blamed. I caught on to the sickness however and had the girl cared for in the local hospital and the Mother (Jeannie, Maggie) refused to contact me to see the child. I had Children’s Services involved and found out about the cult dealings and sexual abuse BY JEANNIE AND the child’s FATHER. I was young and got scared, but knew the girl was in good hands with her grandparents (until later when Jeannie got custody again because she had a good expensive lawyer and the ministry was afraid of it all). I pray that girl and her siblings are safe now that they are away from their mother, and I will pray for their sister taking care of them too. It is better that they are away from their mother and safe in Canada.

The woman (Jeannie, Maggie, whatever) is messed up. I could go on and on about the problems she brought into my life, and what I witnessed of her as a mother… I hate to see anyone suffer, but the woman has had many chances to get her life straight… if she chose this route, she is getting her just punishment.

Thank God He protected me from her.

hazel8500 (11:33:22):

Thank you Goneaway for sharing your recollections here. I am terribly saddend to say, if true, I’m shocked, but not overly surprised. I hope that all of Margaret’s children are safe and accounted for. If you read back a ways in these comments, you may find a reference to many children being fathered by Daniel on Margaret while in various places in Canada, and also some stuff about forged birth certificates and other documents. What you claim here, sort of reinforces those earlier allegations left on this blog.
Despite what some people may still believe, Daniel Duboie or aka whatever name he favored at the moment, was a cult figure, leader and a criminal. Margaret, as we see in Sarada’s document was one of Daniel’s earliest “followers”, and as you point out, Margaret did make her choices and those choices ended with multiple shots and murder charges.

This is actually a good argument for Margaret to be returned to Canada, and to avoid the death penalty in Thailand. If she remains in Thailand, and is found guilty and executed, Canada and the international community will lose an opportunity to uncover the vastness of this cultic influence, and never reach all the victims, such as this little girl left in your care with poisoned food.

I’ll continue to pray for all of Margarets children, and also all of Daniels. Poor kids, this is just about the saddest and most unfair family tragedy I have ever seen.

Lee (22:19:23):

Someone should also be questioning Margaret regarding a person by the name of Jon Onuma aka Jade Yoshino. Apparently there is a connection with a missing person by the name of Kristen Modafferi. She may well have some information on this since she was an early follower of Daniel’s. Check out the website: www.findkristen.com

goneaway (10:52:46):

we can uncover the truth behind the cults without bringing Maggie back to face charges here in canada…. She did the crime there, pay the price there! Why shouldn’t she have the death penalty? SHE gave the “death penalty” to HIM! … and it was by firing squad! HERSELF! (I am glad he’s gone too).

hazel8500 (01:40:16):

Goneaway, Eyewitnesses indicate he pulled the gun, he threatend her, they struggled, he got away, she shot him. She claims she shot him first, before he could carry out his threat of having her killed in Thai Land. They’ve ruined each others lives. That ship has sailed.

Now what is important, the way I see it is to piece together as much as can be pieced together about Dubie and Margaret and Sarada’s and Jon Onuma and yes Geri’s parts in what is shaping up to be a multinational cultic operation that may have ties to some pretty nasty and powerful people and institutions including the UN.

Killing Margaret will profit no one but those very people that worked in league with Dubie. The only people who will benefit from Margarets death or silencing are people who must be stopped.

If Margaret is executed, what happens to every thing she knows? What happens to other possible children like the girl left with you to die? You think she’s the only one out there? It is for HER and the others like her that may still be suffering that we need to know what Margaret and the others know.

Sometimes vengence falls short of justice, and this is one of those times.

goneaway (20:41:31):

you know, I would tend to agree with you if I didn’t know Maggie so well. She has a way of getting away with things– do YOU want to risk her getting off and getting those kids back to do more harm to them?

I don’t WANT to see her die- She’s a human being!!… but I do think it is fair for a person who commits a crime to get the JUST punishment. I am glad he is dead and can not hurt those kids or anyone else.. the guy was evil to its greatest extent. BUT- Maggie is a very very smart woman and has gotten away with trying to murder in the past (look into it!) She needs to be locked up. SHE needs to be punished. I stick to my belief that she killed him, regardless of the circumstances, and needs to be tried in the country of her crime.

If you had looked into the eyes of her sick and dying little girl and nursed her back to health (all because of her mothers doing) you would want to see this woman get a just punishment too.

Hello Gone Away,

You certainly have a compelling point of view, and an important one IMO to be shared, thank you for doing so here.

I certainly do not want Margaret’s children to come to any further harm at the hands of their mother, father or acquaintances of either.

I am not saying let her come back to Canada and move in with her kids, I am asking that she be extradited so Canada can deal with the problems Canada has Spawned.

I would also like to see an accounting of all of Margaret’s children. I am very much concerned that there may be other children of Margaret and Daniel out there somewhere…

Who are these children born in the Canadian Praries with forged documents? And what is all this about forged birth certificates and stuff anyway?

Part and parcel of the shooting of Mr. Dubie in Thailand by Margaret, is their shared history as, well, cult leaders. So far it seems to me that Margaret was just one of many women strung along and used (willingly it seems) to further his insane agenda’s. It is also so far an undisputed fact that Margaret or Maggie is indeed one of his very first and oldest “disciples”. What she knows could be of significant importance, not only to the Thai people themselves, but for the international community, the UN, the various ahrams and spiritual ‘leaders’ the man was involved with, all of these relationships need to be explored.

Mr. Dubies death may have been a crime, but the crimes that led up to this final act need to be investigated, and forgive me but in a contest of his death vs her death vs. the current LIVES of victims that may need to be reached that are out there somewhere I will side on the living victims. Right now their needs are to be indentified. WHo else can do that? Will Geri step up? Jon Onuma? Who?

I do want Margaret to recieve just treatment, for this crime, for any and all crimes she may have participated in to this point but my focus still is, always has been, and will continue to be on the children.

Executing Margaret will not help her children, what kind of precedent will that set for children currently living in similar circumstances? What will that teach them? Not to tell. Not to talk about the abuse going on in the house. To suffer in silence. And then what? The cults have a generation ripe for the picking of disaffected, lost miserable youth. The solution needs to aim for justice for the living, not vengeance for the dead.

Dear Hazel,

I was asked to be a witness for the defense of Margaret. As I have brought legal actions against GPD and have a very close knowledge of him and his behaviour, assisted in other court actions brought by aggrieved women, I might be in a position to speak to his private persona and character.
I have declined this request for a number of reasons.

I do feel strongly committed to doggedly seeking and speaking the truth in love (ironically the Hawaiian middle names of our twins that I lost due to abuse). I feel strongly that in the end the truth is discoverable and is liberating and that all lies and liars do harm to us all. Especially the most vulnerable, the children.

I have the utmost appreciation for the type of extreme duress that one can feel in response to the intricate behaviour and deceptions that GPD could unleash and therefore my sympathies lie with Jeana’s suffering, but I have seen testimony implicating Jeana in perpetration of his predation of women. I believe that testimony to be credible. I have also seen and heard from neighbours evidence of child neglect. I suffered a great deal but there was a cross-road where I could have either “KEEP YOUR MOUTH SHUT” as he told me or walked/ran away. I opted OUT. I didn’t stop loving him. I still love him. That is not the issue. I saw things that I could not reconcile with his presentation of himself as a seeker of enlightenment. Enough said.

I feel that Jeana enabled him, but she was not alone. You really touch a nerve when you mention Geri. I am incredulous on this. If you are waiting for personal prosperity Geri to step up and “Stand in the Power of Truth” on this one, I would not hold my breath. Either she truly does not know what he was up to or she didn’t care as long as he kept up a certain public image (that she is still parading on the internet with wedding photos and her mantra that “Herbalife-can-stand-the test-of-time-and-all-the-petty-assaults-of-rumors” blah blah blah). There is so much harm being done by this failure to acknowledge and reveal the truth about GPD. I feel that part of the foreign pressure (I understand from independent sources) on Thai authorities to “throw the book” at Jeana is based on an extreme need to deny the upsetting truths about GPD. I think I understand this. He was an amazing person and capable of profound love; for those he shielded, he provided an ethereal intoxicating world of boundless love and possibilities. But this was an illusion. To step outside the walls of that haven was a horrid experience indeed. It is very hard to let that go and to accept the full dichotomy of his personality.

I agree with you that justice for the living is the top priority. I have nothing to do with the probate situation, but I fear that Jeana’s children will be short changed or cheated. The personal prosperity proposal (above in this thread) that Jeana is “let it be known” a “lesbian” and that her children were not naturally conceived and therefore do not count somehow is all bizarre and very upsetting but speaks to potential plans a foot. At the time of this crime despite being divorced Daniel was still part owner of a very expensive beach front home.

This is a truly heartbreaking story on so many levels. But despite the compelling nature of the argument to extradite Jeana, I do not see that the Kingdom of Thailand would be willing to engage these far reaching longer term issues involving children in light of the intense assault to the sense of order and rule of law that Thais feel witnessing a capital crime involving a fire arm and “farang”s. Is there progress from the MP’s initiative?

For what it is worth, I think at this point the ball has to be in Jeana’s court. I think that she needs to step up and give complete testimony of all she knows and after this is done and especially if older crimes are solved, then there may be grounds for clemency from the Kingdom of Thailand or extradition to Canada.

Aloha,
Hawaiianeyes

Dang woman! You have been through the mill haven’t you?

>>>I feel that part of the foreign pressure (I understand from independent sources) on Thai authorities to “throw the book” at Jeana is based on an extreme need to deny the upsetting truths about GPD.>>>>

Okay, here you’ve touched a nerve. This is a big concern of mine.
GPD had excellent “connections” and in rather high places as well from the little I’ve been able to determine.

Jon Mark Karr’s ruse to get out of Thailand on the back of Jon Bonnet’s controversy was despicable, but why’d he do it? Why’d he do it WHEN he did it?

Then there was the coup, backed by the esteemed King of Thailand.

Something big is happening in Thailand right now, and I am sure it has something to do with the trafficking of children.

The whole world knows what goes on there, with all the talk about the Farangs in Thailand, you gotta wonder who’s letting them in and allowing them to use Thai people the way they do?

Is it a coincidence that GPD was holed up in Thailand? When I consider his background of control and abuse and from what I’m hearing here about alleged child abuse…I feel ill.

>>>For what it is worth, I think at this point the ball has to be in Jeana’s court. I think that she needs to step up and give complete testimony of all she knows and after this is done and especially if older crimes are solved, then there may be grounds for clemency from the Kingdom of Thailand or extradition to Canada.>>>

I agree, she needs to step up and take responsibility. But H.I. who’s she going to tell? Thai officials? Who is she to rely on to get the truth out? A court appointed lawyer? The gov’t of Thailand that is in the midst of a shake up and scandal of their own? A gov’t that has possibly been complicit (in the recent past) in attracting and retaining an entire economy based on sex tourism? Of minors?

I have no answers H.E., and you have some tough decisions to make and stand by. Perhaps what is needed, is corroboration. I’m not suggesting you act for Jeanna’s defence, or that you do anything at all, to be honest. You have to take care of you and your family.

But I do hope that Dubies surviving victims get in contact with each other, I think it up to the survivors and sympathizers to get the world to listen, and to understand how this happens, and to uncover the effects of these kinds of abuses on the fabric of society.

Aloha, and Peace to you Hawaiineyes!

PS I’ll look into the MP’s Progress, and leave you a link.

Hi Hazel,

I am confused! There seem to be hints here that GPD may have been involved in the child-sex trade in Thailand, but no actual evidence. There is the strange co-incidence(?) of GPD and John Onuma allegedly visiting Nicaragua, where Karen Modafferi was allegedly seen years after her disappearance, but is there any other evidence which you may not yet be able to share with us and which might implicate Dubie or important figures in Thailand?

Like you, I have smelled a very large rat…..as yet unidentified…..in the Dubie business empire. I realise that some may have no option but to keep information to themselves in order to survive if Mr Dubie had the extremely powerful connections I suspect he did.

thank you again for providing this safe space where survivors and those of us who have been moved by the tragedy can gather to give and receive support. It is most refreshing after the ridicule of male-posters on the Thai Visa forum.

fruittbatt
Hi Fruittbatt,
I’m sorry to hear you’ve been dealing with ridicule at the Thai Visa forum.
I’m afraid I am not familiar with the drama over there, I’m full up over here! 😊 I am pleased that you are comfortable here.
As to your questions, I’m afraid I don’t have any evidence of anything, just the words given to me on this blog and the meager media reports I’ve managed to find.
Just to be clear, I am not an investigator or reporter, I have no inside info, I’m simply a housewife with a deep interest in cult crimes for personal reasons not related to this case.
I can share with you a few thoughts and things, but again they are only thoughts not evidence or fact:
In 2005 I had a really cool portal website I used to go to click once a day and sponsors would feed a child, or save a patch of land, or a species.
This site was seemingly affiliated with the UN and other recognised organizations which gave it a certain credibility.
I began to find myself being pulled deeper and deeper into sites and causes geared to attract conscientious people trying to find ways to help the needy. You know come and work with us, save this that. I seriously wanted to pull up stakes run off to Africa and hand out vaccinations, condoms, hugs. I can imagine how many people actually may have done just such a thing? Perhaps Kristen?
btw Nicaragua was one of the area’s as was Thailand where people could go and volunteer. There were many many other locations too.
A few months later, the link was down, and news reports were circulating that this site was a cult portal directed by some mysterious cultic figure (no names used) with affiliations to the UN, and a well known health food supplement company.
Then the sory kind of vanished.
Took the links out of my computer. I should have hung onto them and tracked back to find out who owned them.
Fast forward, I read in the paper about Margaret Crane, hear Dubie’s name for the first time, and stumble onto findkristen.com and read about the links between Jon, Daniel and Kristen, Herbalife, Nicaragua, and began finding that dubie thought he was jesus or like jesus.
Thats when I start wondering about this other site.
I made a posting here on this blog, and was contacted by Robin Sharan, who filled me in a little on what she remembered of Margaret and Daniel Dubie and personally was able to confirm Dubies self identification with characters like Powder, and yes like Jesus. She also was able to attest to what many other posters have, that he indeed had some kind of power, an ability to heal, and ability to manifest “stuff”.
I read Sarada’s Long Letter to a friend, I learned of Dubies tried and true methods of cultish domination, his wealth, his ties to other cult figures and prominent people in hollywood and around the world.
Two weeks later, John Mark Karr flees Thailand under some preposterous ruse. And shortly after that? Thailand has a bloodless coup restoring power temporarily to the military leader Lt.-Gen. Prapart Sakuntanak, under the watchful eye of King Bhumibol Adulyadej.
Why then? Why that time?
In part it was good timing, Chavas was in NY preparing to call Bush the Devil, along with Thailand’s millionaire PM.
The cat was away, in other words.
So thats that for the timing. But for what reason was the coup executed?
In April, the PM nearly resigned over a fraud case. Now it came out that he had also evaded paying taxes on a large sale of property.
Does this not suggest the leadership of the Thailand that the likes of Daniel Dubie and John Mark Karr thrived in, was corrupt?
The PM is a multimillionair, as supposed leader of his nation what harm would it have brought him to pay his taxes? Those taxes belong to the people?! If he could compromise his people for a few measly bucks despite his wealth, what other nefarious deals was he capable of making?
I’m not saying the PM had anything to do with Dubie or his group, but he certainly was complicit in allowing corruption to flourish under his watch.
You’ve actually lit a fire under me, I think I will hunt for some more info. Writing out this timeline was a good excersize.
If you or anyone recognises what I’m talking about with their web portal/UN cult affiliations please post in this thread. It would be enormously appreciated.
Thank you!
Hazel.

Thanks Hazel.

Your post set me thinking, too. In particular about the post-tsunami work which GPD and Margaret were doing as volunteers in Phuket. I don’t want to smear the names of any who volunteered during that tragic time. However, one thing I do know is that in Sri Lanka and Thailand certain tsunami orphans “disappeared” never to be seen again. Again, it would be wrong to impute bad motives to any particular volunteers, but I cannot help but wonder at whose hands these kids “disappeared”.

Other circumstantial events have also sounded alarm bells, but I do not feel at liberty to disclose them publicly. Is there some way I could send you a private message?

Cheers,

Hi Fruitbatt, I understand your concern over smearing the good works contributed by hundreds of thousands of selfless brave volunteers all over the world, and especially those who assisted after the Tsunami. No worries, its a good reminder that it only takes a few well placed rotten apples to ruin it for everyone.

You are more than welcome to contact me at hazel8500@hotmail.com

Do you happen to know with which organization Margaret and Daniel were affiliated with when working in Thailand on behalf of the survivors?
I recall the initial reports that children were disappearing. But then later other news reports came out refuting that? While I want to believe the later reports, I tend to believe the first report, simply because I know there are already many children involved in the sex trade there, of course they would be removed by traffickers. They are the golden geese of these geezers.

Take care!

Was able to track down the UN affiliated cult, the Hunger Project. So the controversy around THP is much to do with the organization’s original ties to Werner Erhard.

From Wikipedia

Public criticism

Since its inception, there has been criticism of The Hunger Project by the public and the press. This criticism has mainly focused on:

Werner Erhard, Erhard Seminars Training, and their philosophies;
* the focus of the Project (1977-1990) on public education and advocacy, rather than providing food and other direct action; [7] (On May 30, 1981 the board of directors of Oxfam Canada passed a resolution which stated they would not endorse any activities or programs sponsored by The Hunger Project, nor would they accept funds from the project.[8])
* recent activity of The Hunger Project to remove critical articles from the Internet.[9]

Wikipedia has a lot of info and external links.

 Doesn’t seem to have anything to do with the Dubie Empire.

Jeannie Crane is the name they used. They told me that was an alias and Margaret was her real name. I know her real last name, but for fear of getting his VERY WONDERFUL biological family more involved, I would hate to give it. But they KNOW her in Victoria, regardless of the name she is using, I know they do. I have written the MP, Keith Martin?, and told him my story in GREAT detail, but I have not got a response from him. It is criminal!!! I am worried about Angel (an alias) too, she is very involved with her mother and doesn’t think her mother is doing or has done anything wrong.

I am praying for those kids every day!

By the way, Jeannie/Maggie introduced me to Daniel as Michael- so there is another alias for him too.

Good Excellent!

I am sure it is very difficult for the children right now. Its just unreal what they are going through with dad dead and mom in prison in a far far away place. Just horrible.

The sooner the truth gets out, the sooner the kids can get up, on and over.

Truth cuts only to heal.

Peace.

Looks like there IS more to the John Mark Karr case!

http://www.foxnews.com/story/0,2933,231921,00.html

The federal government is investigating Karr for a link to JonBenet, and fears that he may have been part of some larger conspiracy to kill her, a prober told the CBS news show “48 Hours Mystery” in an episode airing tonight at 10 p.m.

Can’t help what this means w/ regards to his ties to Thailand?

Dear Hazel,

I hesitate to write this but I feel queasy that this blog should contain any reference to JMK and that entire salacious media blitz that has made a mockery of rational police work. It seems “off topic” and a distraction from very real discussion of the multi-faceted Dubie/Crane case that has had the uniquely remarkable outcome of eliciting gut wrenching opinions from many disparate sides of this case.

To allow this present remarkable and insightful discussion to get derailed into the murky land of JMK conspiracies would be a real tragedy. I fully imagine that there are other GPD victims and/or admirers out there that have not learned about his murder or have been given a very one sided account and may come across this site weeks or months from now. For them to feel comfortable to step forward and share their experiences will require some sense of confidence in this discussion and those participating in it.

I have worked hard to share bits of the puzzle that I have relating to this topic but GPD was a master of secrets and dividing people playing folks against one another. I do not know if the truth will ever fully be known. But for one sincerely appreciate and welcome new information aimed at unraveling just this Dubie/Crane tangled web.

Aloha,

Dear Hazel,

I have recently learned a great deal more about Jeana/Margaret/Molly and I feel more concerned about her potential manipulation of the system presenting the “abused” partner scenario. From many many sources now the picture over the past 20 years is of an enabler if not a Bonnie to Daniel’s Clyde.

I do support some clemency due to the fact that she has young children, but I believe the voices of others I have heard from off line that I knew to be victimized by GPD that also suffered by her involvement and assistance of Daniel.

Do you know when her trial will be?

Honestly i dont think Geri would waste her time reading or responding to any of this. Shes too smart to get involved with anything that could be traced back to her. My heart does go out to Ms. Hart, but I can honestly tell you, the woman was desperate. With good reason. Daniel was a life sucker. He was good at his games, and to some degree I believe he did practice mind control over Geri and others around him, but we would be blind to ignore the fact that Geri is an itelligent woman. She was smart enough to divorce him, and more then likely found out some ugly truths which lead to the divorce. The question is how much did she really know?

28 12 2006

hawaiianeyes (22:32:22):

I agree with you anon
“Daniel was a life sucker”
JEana/Molly/Margeret “was desperate”
As far as tracing things back– Personal Prosperity is registered to Geri (http://www.bizwiz.com/cgi-bin/bizxsrch.pl?terms=ARtoZV.oPHyb.AREdHaLXL12vEAR0xbE5sUioNU&expedite=3 so it was not too clever to use that on the postings here if her intent was to remain Anon.
I also agree that Geri despite being highly capable and competent probably suffered some kind of “mind control” from him and that a critical question is “how much did she really Know?”

Probably pretty much what he wanted her to know is my observation. He bragged about his ability to control her. He called her a moron. She on the other hand told me she called all the shots. For my part at that time I kept my mouth shut and my head down. BY the time I really saw how GPD was and tried to speak out, he used her to protect himself from me. He used her to discredit my sworn testimony. This cost me years of my life. So I do not really think that Geri’s intelligence protected her. My intelligence did not protect me. I do not think that it was about intelligence. This man was an expert at emotional manipulation and actually seemed to be even more motivated by the challenge of subduing women of stature and or intellect. Most high achieving women are looking to a safe haven of emotional support and love too. AS far as Geri responding or reading this–who knows –does it matter?? I think all that matters is that she learns the truth, embraces it, seeks to remedy the harm she did to others while protecting him and actually “stand in the power of truth” as she teaches in herbalife videos. I wish Hellow Anon, Hawaiin Eyes,

One thing I can say for sure, is the women associated with GPD were anything but dumb. Its my feeling that he selected his women because of their intellect, personal power and desire to be a part of something bigger than themselves. How these innocent wishes could be used to manipulate, is a real shame.

As for Geri reading or replying to this blog? Well an email address linked to Geri was supplied here along with a couple insanely angry tirades against Margaret Crane. (I’ve disabled the email for her own protection.) Scroll up, waaaay up to Personal Prosperity.

It is likely someone else could have written the posts, but the content is so personal, and so very inline with what others have said about how Dubie played his women off each other, that its hard to say for sure that it wasn’t Geri herself. Its not up to me to decide or really care, one way or the other.

I once again find myself echoing Hawaiin Eyes’ sentiment:

>>>AS far as Geri responding or reading this–who knows –does it matter?? I think all that matters is that she learns the truth, embraces it, seeks to remedy the harm she did to others while protecting him and actually “stand in the power of truth” as she teaches in herbalife videos. I wish healing and peace for her and for all those who trusted GPD with their hearts.

First let me say I appreciate your hesitation to write what you wrote, and your decision to write anyway.

I happen to hold very strong opinions that JMK is part of something much bigger than JBR. The FACT he and Dubie were both set up a few miles from each other while both (apparantly) indulging their apetites for control, and perversion has not been lost on me, and for that reason alone, I stand by my JMK posts on this blog.

I think I need to address something JIC its not clear.

This blog is not about GPD, its about violence against women and children, and a disturbing trend I (and others) have identified, I call it the Silent Extermination.

This conversation we are having right now is simply one thread of many begun and carried out on this blog, however if I may say so myself, it does seem to be the most popular thread by my stats counter.

To All,

Did you know there are 7,000+ open cases of missing women in my country (canada)? 2,400 children disappear from the USA EVERY DAY!

The main suppliers of human trafficking are the Asian and East Asian countries, out pacing all but the eastern bloc.

Did you know that the major destination countries for such slave labour is the US, Canada, Germany? Basicly the “1st world” and “developed” countries are the engines that drive this slave trade economy, larger, bigger and more profitable now than any other time in history, EVER! In fact it is quickly reaching and soon will surpass the scope of blackmarket arms and drugs.

Who is supplying these people for the slave traders?

I don’t know, but I suspect someone with ties to Canada, the USA East Asia and European countries.

This discussion of GPD, is simply the tip of the ice burg.

IMHO.

Dear Hazel,

My hat is off to you for your strong advocacy work on behalf of the disappeared. It is truly a horrifying phenomena. From what little I know, from corresponding with you on this site, you are a wise a gifted person using the www for a heroic purpose and I respect and appreciate you very much for that.

I apologize for not “getting” the bigger picture here. (It is hard for me to see “the forest for the [major] tree” that fell on me and I still struggle to extricate myself from and stand free again). I agree that GPD could easily have been a gog in this wicked world wide wheel of trafficking. I sincerely hope that Jeana may come to the point of sharing what she knows-if she does have information related to this. I think that it is quite likely that she does, but I have no concrete fact to point to. The various ties of “Peace Child International” do alarm me.

Your site is out there for anyone who “google”s GPD. I sincerely hope that this story provides a mechanism to break into the bigger and sinister world trade that you so passionately alert folks to. Thank you Hazel for your voice and

Anon (19:53:23):

Hello,

I hope I did not offend anyone by my post. It was not my intention to imply that any of the women Daniel was involved with were not intelligent. I only speak from what I know about Geri. I am not judging anyone here. Obviously there are many things I did not know about Daniel. I can tell you that I always thought something was wrong with the way he treated Geri. Geri was pretty up on her money, and knew, I believe where the majority of it was going. He may have joked about how gullible she was, but she really was not. The timing of their divorce lines up with some other events that happened during that time period 2000-2003. I being Jon Onuma living on their Kaneohe property. Lets not forget that there is a missing girl in California, who is linked to Daniel through his involvement with Jon Onuma aka Jade Oshino. This is where I believe things got really heavy for he and Geri. Baring in mind Daniel was already travelling back and forth to Thailand during this period of time, to work on the healing center,or whatever film he was producing, and Jeana was a major player in both Daniel and Geri’s lives then. Too me it’s all heart wrenching, but I believe that Jeana may know some things that could heal familes. I hope to God she comes clean about everything she knew about Daniel…

Anon
Very tired tonight so I’ll be brief. 😊

Anon, no worries, it seems clear you have your heart in the right place. I certainly didn’t feel you were disparaging anyones intelligence, just the opposite. And I happen to agree with you from the little I know of the people involved, Geri was smart, badly used, same with the others. But we are responsible for our choices and actions. The hardest thing I think is to accept you’ve been duped or manipulated or taken for a ride especially by someone you admire, look up to trust and love. It takes time to heal, it takes time to gather strength and courage, and it takes time for one to regain ones own trust in them selves. I just hope time doesn’t run out in the meantime.

Peaceful dreams Anon!

Hi HE!

No need to apologize, I actually was grateful to have the chance to remind readers about the other threads in this blog 😊

I also very much appreciate your pov and input and promise to keep outside issues to a minimum unless I really feel there may be a link.

Hope you have a bright and happy new year!

I must be pmsing I’m all sleepy and emotional tonight but I just wanted to say to you guys posting in this thread, you are (almost) all about the most polite, civil minded and articulate folks I’ve encountered online.

I just wanted to say thank-you, this is such a difficult topic and you really show a great deal of grace and consideration.

A surprising place and topic to discover such gentleness.

May you all have a peaceful happy and fulfilling 2007.

Hazel.

G’nite!

I had dinner the night before last with the close friend of Jeana’s who I will refer to as “Truth Prevails” (TP) based on her sign in name from one of her postings.

TP has come to Hawaii from Chiang Mai to act on the children’s behalf. Sadly there has been some bizarre misinformation that there is no money. There certainly are substantial assets here about to go through probate.

TP gave me a handwritten letter from Jeana. I recognized many of the phrases she used as Daniel’s speech patterns.
exactly. She writes that she was blinded by fear. She writes that she prays for peace and healing for all those that suffered from Daniel’s actions. She writes that he kept her isolated and forbade her to discuss him with other women. She writes that she hopes for a day that the women affected can “swap stories” and thereby find healing in knowing the real truth. But TP agreed that murder cannot be explained away by this tragic history and said that Jeana accepts her incarceration.

TP says that Geri is “on the war path” and has a big gun attorney digging up everything on GPD and that so far he has uncovered hundreds of pages of evidence that speak to years of fraud perpetrated and that Geri herself has been the victim of massive fraud.

That is not news to me. He bragged to me about his shenanigans in the heady days of NASDAQ’s climb in the late 90’s. He bragged about his Swiss accounts and showed me the various transaction documents. He traveled to Zurich in the summer of 98 to attend to all that. Despite the real suffering that Geri brought to my life by her blind and misguided aggressive defense of him, I did reach out to her to try to tip her off many times in many ways.

At this point I would like to make an open plea to all those involved to focus on the very real needs of the youngest of GPD’s children especially Lilly. Please do the right thing and allow for legitimate accounting and distribution of assets

These wars and trying to unravel this web of lies will never really end. But the childhoods of these children should be protected. Assets can be cleverly hidden and shielded from the probate process to suit the whims and rightful frustration of those at the top but in the end I believe there will be a very real “Karmic” debt to pay for this type of greed and vengeance.

Bernadette (01:21:30):

I don’t know why I feel the need to make comments here with regards to Daniel Dubie. I was in shock when I read your page about Daniel’s death. I guess because I have so many questions that will never be answered. I felt so stupid about the whole thing. I was just one of Daniel’s women. He played un-attached and been hurt by women so many times. He told me I am just different from all of them. He offered to pay my rent and to support me but I refused. He comes and goes into my life. I waited for him for so long and believed in his promises. He would call me and leave me messages telling me he loves me. Until one day I met this woman that also happened to knows Daniel. She told me that Daniel is married to a Thai girl. When I confronted Daniel, he said, it is not true. Although in doubt I just listened to Daniel instead. Until one day I finally had enough and broke up with him. What shocks me most is to see Gina’s picture here. She told me her name was Gina Hart which is Jeanna is the way spelled in her email to me. She was the one who introduce Daniel to me. She told me that Daniel was her bestfriend for 25 years. I also met Gina’s 4 children. In fact, one of her daugther’s name is named Danielle. That should be my clue then. She told me that the father of her kids is in jail. She hooked up Daniel with me.

I am sad as to what happened to Daniel but also angry for him lying to me for 5 years I’ve know him.

And about Gina…I don’t know what to think. She was nice to me I thought. But one thing for sure, they played with my heart and my emotion. I felt sorry for her kids.

hazel8500 (17:07:44):

So sorry to hear this Bernadette.
I am having a difficult enough time wrapping my head around all of this too, without having any personal dealings with the family.

Some of the women such as yourself who have bravely shared their experiences here, have twigged little personal vignettes of people I’ve known at verious times who don’t seem all that different from Jeana or Daniel on surface appearances anyway. Truly, it is mind numbing to realize how deviant people can be.
You are not the first person who has described to me as being sort of set up with Dubie with Jeanna’s help. I find this so very difficult to understand.

But I do hope you get the answers YOU need, and I hope H.E. gets hers and I hope Pim (?) gets hers and the children theirs. And so on.

Welcome to this thread, and thank you for sharing!

Peace,
Hazel.

hawaiianeyes (18:14:26):

Dear Bernadette,

This is getting a bit like a bizarre soap opera but unfortunately in this case the truth of his life really is stranger than most fictions….Daniel told me that he was entitled to 12 “wives” at any one time. He said this to me in front of Geri. He identified with polygamous arabs who of a certain class are allowed to marry as many women as they can support. His vision was that each of these women would be true to him FOR LIFE and not question him and that he would visit these “wives” at his pleasure but call frequently and be dependable for emergencies and financial support. He wanted children. AS long as there was no public link to upset the illusion of he and Geri as a happy successful couple there would be no problems. He told me “variety is the spice of life”. When we were together he told me that all his other attachments were not physical. When I found out the truth, he told me that he did not believe in the “codependent sh-t” of the west and was Arab, blah blah. He told me he had slept with other women and that each one was special and he had learned something. He then wanted to take me to Medina. He took me around house shopping and wanted to buy me a house. None of that could get me away from the heartbreaking humiliation that I was supposed to bow down and accept my place in his world as one of many after all his dramatic professions that “you are the love of my life”.

I still love him I will not deny that. I am still confused and angry. I suppose that all of his “wives” are left now with that legacy. It is a sad story of a very powerful individual. I know of several women who report that Jeana arranged the introduction claiming that GPD was her brother.

For those of us left, there should be a time to be angry and then a time to put that anger down. I seem to be going in cycles able to absorb and deal with a little bit at a time. Personally I fear that holding onto that anger is too tightly will rob us of our chance to live fully.

What I do know is that all the “wives” that I have met or spoken to are loving beautiful and intelligent souls. I feel that my love is a part of me and if I give my love it is true because I am true. I cannot take that love back and I don’t want to. I have no control over Daniel and his choices and he made that clear to me at a certain point. He said that his love was true and uncoditional and forever. Perhaps to him it was. But the truth is that he deceived me and used me and I don’t think that you can have “true love” without the truth. He told me that I would not be “able to handle the truth” so he had lied.

Thank you for sharing your story Bernadette. I hope all this may provide some type of an answer that you seek.

involved romantically with the total stranger! I felt so disgusted. The last time I spoke to Daniel was on Mother’s day. We already broke up but still calls me and telling me how much he loves me. I told him I am here as a friend when he needs me. He asked what is wrong with me. He said, women chased him and wants his money. I guess I challenged him and he cannot accept the fact that I don’t want to be his girlfriend anymore.

I just learned his death last night when I was browsing the net. At first I was sad but then after finding out the truth about him, I felt so sick in my stomach. I felt so numb and can’t even cry. I wanted to cry not because of his death but because I want to feel better after being mad at myself for being so naive and stupid. I feel so hurt and betrayed!

Like you Hawaiianeyes, Daniel has this email to me I want to share:

"Dear Bernadeth,

>> Ever since I was a boy I dreamed of making a difference in the world. I felt empathy and compassion for the unfortunate of the world. Destiny has set its course for me. I know not if I chose it in a time long ago, or if it chose me. Each step of my path brings me closer to the knowledge of the injustice and denial of even those with good intention. It is not even so much greed and power as it is denial of the Divine Light within each and every one of us. But I believe that unarmed truth and unconditional love will have the final word in reality. That is why right, temporarily defeated, is stronger than evil triumphant. And why I keep on doing what I do.

>> At the same time I feel an emptiness and a longing for the personal love that comes from relationship. Bernadeth you were the one true flame that shone in my heart, that I thought could change my destiny and bring me a simpler life. But in my heart of hearts I hear the voice say, carry on my wayward son, all you desire in the end will come. I still see your face and wish you believed enough in me to know I was the one worth waiting for. If only I could see you again. It would be the healing injection I envision in my dreams. I have been traveling and working constantly. I have not returned home for over a year, but Bernadeth I would love to see you and would even come to Hawaii just for the purpose of seeing you again face to face. I see you in my dreams but it is not enough. Would you be willing to have me step into your world this time. I do care and I do still love you. That connection we felt in each others eyes is very real to me. I don’t want to deny it. There is something bigger than both of us weaving the tapestry of the picture that is yet to unfold. I embrace you in it. Will you see me!”
> > Regardless of your answer please write me back as soon as possible.”
> > Your wayward love,
> >

Yes I believed in him. He was good at convincing me to believe everything he says. Not even in my wild imagination think that he had relationship with Jeana and that the kids are his. Unbelievable. How could I not see all these. I’ve been to his house in Big Island, in Kailua, his condo in Waikiki and even the little house in Kauai. Like you and others he told me we are soul mate even Jeana said that Daniel is my soul mate and she can see that through our eyes. I have learned about Geri’s existence also recently. When I asked Daniel about it, he told me he have to lie to me because he was afraid I am going to leave him. And to convince me more that Geri is not in his life anymore, he showed me their divorce paper. He told me not to tell anyone because none of Geri’s friends knows the divorce. Both of them didn’t want their friends to know about it to protect their reputation.

I have seen Daniel in split personalities but ignored it. I sensed something but ignored it. I think because of my love for him, I became so blind. But one thing for sure I learned so much from this experience.

I am not angry with Jeana. I believe she is also a victim. It was wrong that she murdered Daniel but we also don’t know what she been through with him. Sometimes, enough is enough. My sympathy goes to their children.

And to Personal Prosperity Int.

I am sorry that the truth about Daniel came out for everyone to know especially for the women he fooled like me. I understand you want us to leave Daniel alone. Don’t worry he is now alone. May he rest in peace.

And about RESPECT? Do you even know how to respect our feelings?

We are gathered here not to disrespect Daniel but to give each other support and to reveal the truth. We are not obsessed of Daniel and definitely not need a psychiatrist. We are fine. We just awakened from a nightmare and we just want to share that with each other so that we can learn from each other and to be better in protecting ourselves from people who wants to hurt us. So that someday we can also teach our children to be aware of people like Daniel. I’m just saying……

K. I think I feel better now. I accepted it already. Daniel is gone. He can’t hurt me anymore. Thank you Hazel for your blog. And to all of us who was once Daniel’s soulmate, PEACE.

Oh Bernadette, You are most welcome here. I am glad that you’ve found this site, I don’t have any answers but I certainly offer my little blog for you and the other women who I’ve been blessed to have meet to gather and draw strength and comfort from each other.

I hope that Geri is also finding support and comfort and strength among her members and supporters, and perhaps one day we can all consider each other friends and partners in truth.

Many blessings to you, especially the one we call Peace.

Dear Bernadette,
THANK YOU! Your letter is so wonderful. I am so sorry for your pain that you feel now but like many processes getting out of this sticky mesmerizing web is very PAINFUL. But the best sign is that you can see again.

There are so many other potential victims of his out there. How to reach them?? I have wondered about putting some type of add in local papers over a few weeks time with his picture. There was a very small probate announcement in the legal section but I think few knew his legal name George Patrick Dubie. There was a Charles Meminger piece in the HONolulu Advertiser 2 weeks after his death but other than that the whole story has been hushed.

Personal Prosperity—You can not buy or bully everyone. Now I learn some latest moves to claim Daniel’s assets and sue the estate blah blah. She had no trouble in blindly following Daniels direction to the detriment of the truth while he lived to now cry foul because SHE finds SHE was also made a fool of is bizare. Yes the divorce was not announced on any Herbalife site and she seems to have kept the DUBIE at the end of her name and kept up wedding happy couple photos on the web. Daniel told me IMAGE was everything to her and that the marriage was not legal because he was never divorced from Sylvie and that it was all just a business arrangement. But he said that if Geri ever suspected that he loved me then she would not rest until I was destroyed. He said he wanted to marry me but that he had to wait until she divorced him or he would lose too much and that would hurt our future life together. I told him that was all BS and if he really loved me (and at the time our unborn twins) he would leave and we could live in a tent for all I cared about money. He chose lies and money and abused me. I lost that pregnancy and nearly lost my mind. Then came 9/11 and I heard all about him from the FBI and what he told the FBI about me was that he only “used [me] for sex”. What he had said to me about a coming jihad and all his rants about islam together with 9/11 and the FBI information obilertated whatever was left of my fragile psyche at that time and I really did completely give up. Some how I got another chance and now SO MANY years later I am blessed with all these kind ANGELS to share the truth- you Bernadette, Kari, Sarada, Island Girl, Hazel and Fruitbatt (thaivisa) for wise perspective of similar behaviour of other pyschopaths.

Bernadette, I now hear that another baby has been born just recently after his death here in Hawaii. So there are definitely others. He also calls me still every mother’s day. I have hundreds of emails and letters from him. Many have very similar phrases as he used in the letter you kindly shared here. I suppose that he had a type of “formula” to use to brain wash the women he targeted. Did he give you video tapes to watch? Like the one about OSHO? Did he give you lots of audio tapes to listen to? Did he record music for you to listen to? He did these things with me and now I wonder if some of them had “subliminal” messages of mind control in them. He had a very powerful gaze and many times while looking into his eyes I felt that I was falling into some type of sweet trance and felt very relaxed. He would do that and then say shocking things he wanted me to do and I would startle and realize that there was something very wrong with this but I couldn’t figure out what. He told me that he had gotten alot of advanced spiritual training. I know from many others that he was really into some type of “black magic” building altars to various people with there own personal things. He stole little things of mine.

Anyway, Bernadette we may never get to the bottom of all this and the pain may never really completely go away but I am happy to feel like at least I can see much more clearly now.

Thank you Bernadette for sharing your piece of this puzzle 😊!

hawaiianeyes (12:40:10) :

PS Bernadette,

The legal death certificate from Chiang Mai states that Daniel was unmarried at the time of his death so I don’t think that he actually married Pim. He may have presented that she was his “wife” in Thailand to protect Pim’s reputation. He certainly bought property in her name and made all the financial arrangements that a husband might. He told me that he loved her very much and that she gave him the chance to continue his tranformation…..
hawaiianeyes (16:41:33):

The Power of Truth

At the risk of appearing “obsessed” or beating a dead horse, I do want to come back to a GLARING abuse of the public trust. There can be no “respect” if there are blatant lies and fraud being perpetrated STILL. I am and have been extremely offended by the chicanery going on in the land of all things “Dubie”.

So in that context I will submit my personal ongoing pet peeve!

Except for direct legal actions, that i did not discuss publically before his death, I have kept silent for years about the bizarre charade of the GCD-GPD marriage. But I have kept my eyes wide open. It seemed very odd and telling indeed that even years after the 2003 legal divorce in Hawaii that Geri kept including “my husband Daniel Dubie” in all her PR literature about the abundant life that Herbalife had made possible for her. Even now readers in Brazil, China, Finland, Mexico, Poland are being told about this happy life with Daniel. (Other ladies in all those places may exist silently waiting his return because he “is the one worth waiting for”)

One example of many:

I would hope that Geri would now find the power to truly “Stand in the Power of Truth” (Geri’s public sales pitch: http://www.internetnextstep.com/upline/2000/January/upline_magazine_success_herbalife.htm) and publically expose and renounce him once and for all, for the sakes of all of us who were run over by this monster.

Bernadette (05:09:11):

Hi Hawaiianeyes and Hazel. Having a forum with you guys helps a lot.
Believe it or not, I finally cried! Tears, not because of Daniel’s death but from the pain he had caused me. I thought about all the sacrifices I made for him because he made me believe that his love for me was real. Even after the fact that I broke up with him I still feel his love for me was really there from the beginning. But now that I know the truth, I felt so used! There was NO LOVE at all. I was used.
Now that I cried, I really hope I can now move on without question in my mind. I know it is impossible to erase him in my memory but that’s ok. He will serve as a reminder of ” Beware of the 666". Here are some few things about Daniel I want to share.

“The Daniel I know………”

He said he was born in Arabia.

He said his father is a sheikh in Arabia.

He works for UN and CNN.

He is a Filmmaker, does National Geographic documentary film

He co-produce Demi Moore movie ( Striptease) and…

Another movie called Rain Forest ( I checked these movies online and never his name was on the movie credit)

He said there will be a movie coming out called “Now and Then” ( Supposed to be last year) that he produce and that he even act on it. (Of course, there was no such movie last year)

He was never been married but had relationships before with women who only wants his money. I never knew of Geri nor Jeanna and other women. I only knows ME..lol duh.
He said he has a lot of children but I didn’t know he has 17 or more…duh.

I only seen the pictures of a young boy and a young girl and one that is in a recording business in NY and Felicia (never met her but spoke to her few times. She seems nice and very happy individual)

He said Jeanna was just his secretary (He warned me not to talk to her anymore because according to him, she is crazy) Jeanna said Daniel is her bestfriend for 25 years.

He loves children and he wants one from me. Thank God, it didn’t happen.

He was in comma for 3 months because of an accident.

He got very ill in Bali 3 years ago for about 6 months that he was in bed and he hired a private nurse to take care of him…so he wasn’t able to come home to Hawaii and cancel our plan of spending time together in Bali.

He open a Spa in Thailand with a japanese business partner and he offered me to work there to manage the Spa but first he wanted me to go to school to learn Thai (I believe him and even went to Thailand to check the Spa supposed to be but of course it did not happen because he supposed to pick me up in Bangkok like he said but he never showed up. It’s ok, I did my own tour in Bangkok and Pattaya and still I had fun): His excuse…he had a business emergency and he flew to his recording studio in NY. It’s all BS talk. He has no intention to take me to his Spa at all because now that I know the truth, his Thai lady was not only his business partner but also a partner in bed!

He never said to me he was Jesus. He only believes in Buddha and so he has a collection of them.

Yes, I have emails, postcards, copy of Soul At Bay and Tsunami DVD of his Film and songs he recorded for me to listen and some meditation books he gave me.

I don’t really know how much the truth and the lies about all these. But I am sharing these things to you so you know how much he hurts me mentally and emotionally and why I felt so stupid right now.

I wish he didn’t have to die when Jeanna shot him so that I can face him and put him to shame! But his dead and all I can do now is find in my heart to forgive him so I can completely close that book and never to be open again. Time heals wound and yes it is just a matter of time.

Goodnight!

Dear Bernadette,

It also really helps me a lot to hear your story. He gave me the whole arab routine as well. He had me call him “Ahamed” in private.

Anyway—there are at least 3 movie/script/book projects going forward at this point. SO if you can stand to hold on to all those momentos and you want to provide some information to these writers that may be one way to take a stand and expose this deceit.

Your hard BKK story reminds me of a similar situation with him. After 23 hrs of air flights half way around the world He also left me standing at the airport. 3HOURS I waited for him. He finally did show up but the same callous disregard and constant unbelievable string of emergencies kept me always off balance as well as his calls at random times 24/7 even in the middle of the night. He pleaded that I always be available to answer the phone so I slept with 3 phones in the bed!!

This is such a strange and hard story to try to come to terms with.
Dear Hazel, I am happy to share my personal email with Bernadette. Can you let her know off line that she is welcomed to write to me directly if she wishes at my yahoo.com address

Aloha,

Dear Bernadette and Hazel,

Is there any way to let “redeyegirl” know about Daniel. She has him up on her myspace page as one of her “heroes”. She also lives here in Hawaii. I do not know how myspace works.

hawaiianeyes (22:57:38) :

Dear Bernadette,

Sorry to be so chatty but I have so many questions and I am so happy to make your acquaintance here.

One big thing. I pretty much believe in the whole murder story but I continue to get the same kind of weird “spam” that he used to send me. He admitted it after the TRO as his way to communicate. Once the TRO expired he just wrote to me plain and simple but now I am getting this “weird stuff” again. They are rambling messages with bits that made some kind of sense. Like this one from “Felicia Daniel”. Since it seems that he used a lot of the same approaches with you and me I wonder if you got these and if you are still getting them.

I hope that this is all just random spam and i can forget about it. He has never disappeared completely from my life since I met him so I am all jittery still wondering is he really gone? Can I really rest now safely??

Thank you for your help with this!

Hi Hawaiianeyes, if you want to get to know redeyegirl on Myspace, you have to go to her page. And from there go to the bottom of her picture where it usually says “contacting….so and so. Click the “Add to my Friend” or Add me”. She will get your message. And if she approve it, you are in to her friends list and you can start chatting with her. OR, you can just click the “Message Me or Send Me A Message” and it will go to her inbox where no one sees the message. Oh yah, you have to be a member also. I did checked out her page and saw DD’s name there. I am sure she knows DD but to what extent, I don’t know. God knows!

I am sorry that just last night I throw away all the stuff that Daniel gave me. I didn’t feel like hanging on to them since I felt like it came from a devil. After I read your message I went back to the trash down the bldg. but it was gone. I was able to save 2 DVD’s and some postcards.

I am cleaning all my stuff last night and I found our pictures together as well as the gold necklace with blackpearl he gave me 2 years ago. I throw them all away. So I don’t know how much those stuff I save would help in a way. But with your request, I will keep them. I could not watch his Souls At Bay film I think because it is in a different format. I think it is in PAL. But I did see his doc film of Tsunami.

Oh yah, Daniel never said he was Jesus and he only believes in Buddha. But he did told me that “He was God”. I did not think so much about it. With that phone thing…hahah, I can imagine you sleeping with 3 phones on the bed. f#@! DD, I only have 3 hours sleep or less everytime he comes to my apt. and I have to work in the morning. He constantly on the phone and doesn’t care waking me up. The guy never sleep. Yes, his phone would ring 24 hrs! He told me his business is from all over the world so the calls was coming from whoever on a different time zone.

OMG! Everytime I think about all these things about him, it is really making me sick! I am so shame of myself for being so damned! And never in my life that someone close to me that died, I never feel any sadness. I am not sad about his death at all! I am not happy that he died but also I never care really. I looked closely at his dead picture with Pim and I am trying to feel remorse or anything….but nothing! Like I said, I only cried because I could not believe I allow myself to get fooled for years!

He used me and abused me and treated me like trash!

Oh well, Hawaiianeyes, it is just a matter of time. YOU and I will be the smartest women in the world after all that weve been through! Because I will not allow anyone to treat me the way I was treated by Dubie.

God Bless You!

We can continue to unravel the truth for our own healing. I don’t think there’s something wrong with it. We are speaking of the truth and from our experiences. People should know specially to those who think they know Daniel, and learn from this. It is definitly not an obsesion.

This is just a time of sharing, in seek for the answers to the questions Daniel left behind.I know in time, we will put these nightmare behind. I am here to support you Hawaiianeye.

hawaiianeyes (15:27:40):

Dear Bernadette,

It is amazing how repetitive his con was!!! 2 years ago he told me he had bought me a beautiful black pearl pendant but then did not mention it again. Did he realize at all that we are real people? It seems that he looked at women as some lesser life form “women are angels to serve we warriors” as he said in an old newspaper article from his Kauaii cult days.

I also threw away most of the stuff he gave me long ago.

You seem so much better than me at putting this all in context. The guy was definelly a true menace. Think of how many other women like us he conned and strung along for years. Even “personal prosperity” apparently was financially abused by this guy through his chicanery despite her early pronouncements that:

“Mr. Dubie was a very well respected man in our community and did wonderful things for the people especially children around the world”

Where are all the great loving obituaries of this remarkable man then??

” Margaret created this situation for herself and nobody else. She is responsible for her actions”

“Margaret should pay for the crime that she committed. The laws should be obeyed and respected at any country one person is at.”

None of us including PP would “create this situation for ourselves” any more than we would stick a burning stick into our eye.

“The laws should be obeyed” Daniel was the only one in this story that prior his murder that I can see clearly flaunted not only the rule of law but common decency, civility, respect, honestly, loyalty and morality.

Daniel is truly “resonsible for [his] actions” but as soon as he lied and deceived he took from trusting women their right of self determination. If a woman is being lied to and strategically deceived then it is ludicrous to assert that the outcomes are all her choosing and her responsibilty. The phrases that PP used are logical in an of themselves but strung together in this context they complete miss the mark and absolve DD of any “responsiblity”.

But, I still blame myself endlessly for somehow not doing better. I should have done the rape kit and let him be prosecuted from the begining to “pay for the crime that [he] committed”. He had sent all kinds of love letters and tapes before that rape and was apparently an accepted member of the circle of friends of a trusted aquaintance of mine and so I was really confused. But it was not my fault. I had told him repeatedly that I would not commit adultery and that if that happened to me I would commit suicide. I had a simple life and had never crossed any lines like that.

He has done more harm to me than anyone EVER. I am so ANGRY but there is no real way to direct that. I feel trapped in a cycle of anger/ depression/ compassion/acceptance but it never really goes away. maybe that is just the way the human psyche is wired.

Thank you for your honesty and kind friendship-
Aloha pumehana,
HE

Dear Hawaiianeyes,
Thanks for your post on the Thai forum. And after reading all of the above it just seems to be getting worse—what with all these new stories coming out. I am incredulous as to how one person could do so much harm to so many people! I have had my own tanglings with abuse in a relationship, but it still never ceases to amaze me how or why anyone could do these things to another human being. I was once told that one can never make sense of a crazy person. Many years after the fact and a lot of growing within myself I know now that no one will ever again hurt me in that way again. I am acutely aware of how people treat me and speak to me. As for the folks I know who were involved with GPD it seems that they will never be completely healed. So I am there for them if they ever want to talk about it. I am sorry that you and Bernadette and all the others have had to deal with ongoing pain and mental anguish. Blessings to you all!!

today, the 12th of Jan. is the hearing in Hawaii for probate and will. Just thought you all might want to know. But it seems that his children won’t ever be taken care of, because of all the lies and crap from the many that can’t see that his kids, all of them, should be the ones now to get at least a little something of his holdings. They are the abused and innocent ones that didn’t deserve to have all of this happen to them. I love you all and hope we can all meet someday.

God bless you all. Love, Kari (Karen A Shoblom/Dubie/Davis)

hawaiianeyes (14:27:27):

Aloha Kari,
I have worked hard to get the best possible independent counsel to review the probate filings and will provide all the information that I have to support that effort. I agree with you 100% that all attention at this point should be focused on protecting the surviving children equally (including the adult children long neglected).

This estate is not going to be at all straight forward and there are plenty of sharks trolling the waters of paradise. I will certainly do all I can to assist in the fight for truth in this final chapter of GPD story. Those with plenty seem never to be satisfied and the children will suffer if that type of greed is not opposed. I find it very odd indeed that “creditors” claims should be honored before the children. Nuissance claims and exaggerated damage claims do nothing to redress grievances against GPD at this point they only hurt the innocents of this whole tragedy.

Peace,
HE

Hi Hawaiianeyes, how are you? I hope all is well and that you are happy. I am fine and just keeping myself busy at work.

Maybe the reason why it seems like I was more stronger than you are about this whole thing of DD was because before his death I broke up with him already. I said “Goodbye” to him first. Although he was still calling me and BS’ng me I was still nice to him. Yes, I was once in love with this guy. But after I found out the truth about this man, I just realise there was no reason at all to even linger on to his memories. He is not worth of any of my tears.

Take care Hawaiianeyes!

Continue to be strong!

To Hazel, “Thank you” for your blog. I would have not known anything about Daniel if not with your blog.

To Hawaiianeyes and Kari, “Thank you” for sharing your stories. The more I read stuff on this blog, the more I am learning about Daniel.

I know I should not say this but I felt like the more I am learning about Daniel, I realise I am the dumbest of all! Literally, he made me feel like some kind of a doormat! If only you guys knows what all the sacrifices I made for him. But oh well he is dead. But really, I wish he didn’t die so I could face him. I just really want to spit on his face. I am sorry. I am ok now though once in a while I can’t help thinking about him and getting mad at myself. But like I said I have already moved on before his death. It was just him calling me all the time and telling me lies.

Again, “Thank you, Thank you” ALL for revealing the truth.
Bernadette

19 01 2007

hawaiianeyes (15:56:23):

Dear Bernadette,

Please be patient with yourself. I don’t think that the heart understands the concept of time. I don’t think that the words “move on” mean anything to attachments that go to the depth of your soul. To give your heart fully to someone and to open up to them to the deepest part of your being can not help but leave a lasting footprint. For good or for bad. I don’t think that we can will it away. I don’t think that getting mad at yourself will help. Please do not think of any of your actions as “dumb”. I think that we who were his targets were real women with real hearts and souls that he saw as his to break and own and use. That really is not our fault. He was a world class pro at this game. We were not. I think it is important to allow yourself to grieve or to rage and even to remember your own gentle feelings as your own and not to put any time line on that.

The most important thing I think is to come to terms with the truth and accept this as “when bad things happen to good people” kind of tragedy.

If we can be here for each other and offer honest encouragement and openness that is good.

To judge ourselves or each other as dumb etc I think does damage. GPD already did enough of that. I think we should build little walls around our hearts to protect us from damage from predators but especially from the nagging self doubts that being with him leaves. His voices and actions that we were there to serve him was a LIE. Let us not listen to that lie or any other lies that tear us down any more. For me I think that this will be a struggle for the rest of my life. It has been 7 years since his worst abuse of me and my trust and 7 months since i last talked to him. I do think I am getting better and stronger and I think that process will continue but I don’t think it will ever be fine with me or that I will ever feel that I have “moved on”. I just want to have as much of heart put back together as I can get and be happy for what is left of me. That I am still capable of laughter and love and joy. If I suffer nightmares or terrors or rage or tears sometimes then so be it. I do not want to get mad at myself. If I had a daughter who experienced this and she still cried years later i would not shut her down or tell her to move on or that it was dumb. I would just hold her until the storm passed and try to give her a safe happy life. IF we would treat our daughters so kind and gently I think we should treat ourselves like that too!

Peace

HE

22 01 2007

Bernadette (11:43:32):

Thank you HE! I learned a lot from this experience.

Well, I hope someday you find it in your heart to move on and realise that in order to teach our children from what we been through, first we have to have peace in our mind and heart. We learned the truth and now we just have to accept it because there is nothing we can do now but to share our ordeal to others and so them too can learn from this. Yes I am angry for the abuse I’ve experienced as well. But you are right, I cannot get mad at myself and judge myself for being just a nice person. Instead, I will continue living without beating myself up over this. Somehow I have to move on just like I was trying to do before he came back and start calling me again. I didn’t really fall for it again but I entertained him and had listened to all his lies.

I hope HE that you find peace in your heart compleetey. I am sorry that you are still having a hard time. I do believe it is just a matter of time.

In my case, I truly believe that the only way I could find peace in my heart through this experience was to put everything behind me. It is always gonna be there and I cannot erase the fact that I got fooled for so many years. And that from time to time when I think about this, I may still think how stupid I was then. But like I said, I will do all my best to put this behind me and this ordeal will serve as my lesson and a reminder that I cannot trust anyone 100% no matter what. Even if they put a mask and seems like they are angel, I should always remember we should always have that benefit of a doubt for our own protection.

Life goes on for me. I still have a life to treasure for we all know that we do not own our life and it can be taken away at anytime.Besides after learning the truth about DD, I realise he was not even worth of anything!

Peace,

Bernadette

23 01 2007

Dear Bernadette,

Please forgive me if I am going out on a tangent that you did not intend, but I find myself in a strange position. Your message ended with “after learning the truth about DD, I realise he was not even worth anything”. That statement hit me hard and made me feel really sad. He certainly was a liar and a cheat and filled with the conceit that he was a divine blameless being who had the right to use others as he saw fit and all of that is disgusting in the light of day. He certainly hurt us and left us doubting ourselves and anyone new we will now meet for the rest of our lives. But I would not say he was not worth anything. I did love him unconditionally and I still do love him, dead or not, cheat etc or not. I just do. My respect is conditional and he lost that. My trust is conditional and he lost that. But even when he called in May and I told him all this exactly that as long as he continued living lies, I would have no part of it and I hated his choice to live that way. I also told him that I loved him and I always would but his life would be a waste if he did not reject all the lies he was living in. He said he knew that. I don’t think his life was not worth anything –he certainly largely squandered his gifts and many should have the chance to spit in his face but I guess the only peace I find in this whole story is in the peace I have that my love was/is simple and unconditional.

It is so nice to be able to write about all this and sort of work it through! Thank you Bernadette and Hazel.

Aloha,

HE

Bernadette (02:01:23):

HE, I do understand how you feel and I hope you understand me as well. I have no regret of saying “Daniel is not worth of anything. That is my opinion because’ Daniel Dubie” was not a real person to me. He wasn’t the person I thought he was. He was a complete stranger to me. Nothing he said was true. He was already hurting me both emotionally as well as mentally even when we were together. He made me believe that I was the only one he truly loves and I was his soulmate and that there was no other woman . He hurt my feelings over and over and over, more so after finding out the truth about him. Yes, I was once in love with Daniel Dubie, the man I came to know. But he truly did not exist so therefore there was no reason for me at all to continue loving him nor to respect him even to his death. And that’s why Daniel Dubie was not worthy of anything. I was isolated from everything so I have no knowledge of his background except from what Jeanna told me and from visiting some of his houses and the pictures on the wall and from talking to Felicia. It seems like enough for me to believe in him so much.

HE, I believe that you have bonded with Daniel more than I did. I understand and respect that you still love him despite of all his lies. Who knows, he must truly love you as well. He maybe have other plans for both of you. But as for me, when I think about myself now, there was no love at all! He did not love me, ever! He used me for sex, to serve him and take care of him when his in town and abused me and played with my heart. He even met my family. So he also lied to them .And that “HURTS”. He hurt me big time. So now I know I cannot beat up myself over this and just accept that it happened to me and I learned my lesson.
We both are dealing with this in a different way. But I really do understand how you feel. Yes, I was in love with the Daniel I came to know, not the “MONSTER” I discovered. I cannot even say I love this guy unconditional. Because like I said he was not real. He never existed! The true Daniel Dubie was the one dead because of his dark side.

Peace and Mahalo to you,

Bernadette

hawaiianeyes (21:34:22):

Dear Bernadette,

Thank you for taking the time to explain it to me. I do think I understand now. You are right “Daniel Dubie” never even existed because he was not real—just another fictitious alias. George Patrick Dubie was addicted to disguises. He had me call him Ahamed. When I busted his cover—not all of them mind you, he confessed to so much more and seemed relieved to do so. He boasted about his scams on Geri and others and asked for my forgiveness. I felt appalled and sickened by his life. I felt especially concerned for Felicia. He played me tapes of her phone messages where she would pray for him and tell him she was her divine heavenly father as well as her human father. This divine egomaniacal streak of his repelled me. Since he took me into his confidences in a way, I spent the time to try to urge him to denounce that cr*p and come clean. I stayed true to myself and tried to pull him out of the jaws of hell but he really seemed to think that he was master of his life and did not think that the lies were the master of him.

At this point he is dead. I am worried for Felicia. Can she see all this? I am angry with Jeana, why didn’t she refuse to participate—why did she seem to enable his predations. I worry how many other victims are out there. I worry what was the depths of his immorality—was he involved in human trafficking? What of the pornography that was reported by FBI to me?

I think the best we can do is to be out on the WWW discussing these things so that others may have a place to come forward to.

Still watching-

kari (11:25:37):

wow! This just goes on and on, huh?

Hi, Bernadette, sorry to hear you were one of his victims too, but don’t ever feel bad about yourself!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

George Dubie, was a very sly evil guy that used everyone.

People like you and me are for real and didn’t think it possible for someone to be that evil.

Did you all notice that his children aren’t writing on any blog or post???????????? Not that I know of anyway.

Just try to think about how his many sperm offsprings feel right now!!!!!!!!!!!!!

I have three of Dubie’s children, and I can tell you, they are so hurt! I can’t even imagin what all is going on inside them. My Jamil, Calista and Christian are my everything. I never lied to them about their dad. He finally stayed away from us because he knew he couldn’t ever gain his control back on any of us.

I’m so very proud of the fact that I, along with Sylvie, put him in Jail.

Boy, you should have seen the look in his eyes when the 5 FBI agents jumped on him, pushed him down and handcuffed him. If looks could kill, I’d be dead.
He really was quite a wimp when it came right down to it, always whinning about his fake injuries. lol lol lol sorry, but my sorrow is for my children.

Dubie was their father, but, NEVER their dad.

Aloha, Kari (specialk)

P.S. Felicia, I would love to hear from you. Calista and I do truely love you. We have love for all you kids. The ones I know are: Vanessa, (My Jamil, Calista and Christian.) Felicia, Shawny, and Kalina. If any of Dubie’s children would like to contact me, please do. You all have a lot of half brothers and sisters out there. I would love for you all to reach out and find each other. Not here on the blog of course… but, anytime, feel free to write me at oylmom4@yahoo.com. Peace to you all.

Namaste (21:47:57) :

“In cultivating compassion we draw from the wholeness of our experience - our suffering, our empathy, as well as our cruelty and terror.

It has to be that way. Compassion is not a relationship between the healer and the wounded. It’s a relationship between equals. Only when we know our own darkness well can we be present with the darkness of others.”
- Pema Chodron

29 01 2007
hawaiianeyes (23:30:23) :

Dear Namaste 😊,

At first I did not like your post as it reminded me of so many things that “Ahamed” would say and send and seemed to be just the sort of thing I began to suspect that GPD was using as a an apparent diversionary tactic in response to some challenge by me to live in Truth.

But then I liked it more and more and realized that his affection for spiritual exploration and discovery was one of the dearest aspects of him and really opened alot of schools of thought up to me that I read voraciously and greatly enjoyed. Although his OSHO tapes etc seemed to have a creepy edge of women asking questions of “beloved one” etc there is a great gift not to be lost here. He may well (as some have pointed out) have used the wisdom of great teachers to mesmerize me or distract me from other less noble things he was up to but I certainly do not want all this to become an excuse to become hardened to all beauty and mystery. I agree that in the deepest sense compassion can only be meaningful if it arises from the ashes of great suffering.

So I looked up the author you cite and find a very interesting book
The Places that Scare You: A Guide to Fearlessness in Difficult Times (Shambhala Classics) (Paperback) by Pema Chodron

there is an excerpt that is quite wonderful:

http://www.amazon.com/gp/reader/1570629218/ref=sib_dp_pop_ex/105-6566395-6499617?ie=UTF8&p=S00L#reader

I especially like what Pema says essentially about the mystery of unconditional love. I have been struggling with this and trying to understand why I should still feel such strong love for GPD despite all the “facts”. She does a lovely job of describing how this love is a gift and does not need to conform to “facts” and can and simply should allowed to just BE. and that this love can lift us to another (tender) level of being.

Pema starts chapter one with this quote;
“It is ony with the heart that one can see rightly; what is essential is invisible to the eye”. –Antoine de Saint-Exupery

Thank you for your contribution to this dialogue, Namaste

hawaiianeyes,
Pleased you’ve responded to the invitation to soften…
“Compassion practice is daring.
It involves learning to relax and allowing ourselves to move gently toward what scares us.
The trick to doing this is to stay with emotional distress without tightening into aversion; to let fear soften us rather than harden into resistance.” - Pema Chodron

Perhaps a deeper lesson is balance.

Yin and Yang of life,
To be hardened- to be softened.

It could be as dangerous to be exclusively “tender” as to be exclusively hard.

I saw GPD reward my tenderness but flee and then try to undermine my strength.

I would not want to lose either side of me.

It was reported that he was cremated in Chiang Mai. I don’t know more than that.

Unbeliever, isn't it odd that on Valentines Day you would choose to make a statement about what you believe about the posters in this thread.

The judgemental tone of your comment, is what is sad about the world we live in today.

Go find someone to hug.

Unbeliever,

Looks to me that you are just passing by on the information super highway and have no real knowledge or experience with any aspect of this story so it is probably a waste of time to respond to your comment.

Still, I will take a moment to try to “break it down” for you in case you actually do care to understand some of the writers on this thread.

NONE of us, that I know of, who went through this sit around dreamy eyed, blindly “believing” in lies, furtively writing Valentines Day cards with no one now to send them to. We have all fought hard to tear down his silly Wizard of Oz type curtains and expose the small man behind that curtain. Still it would be a “sad world” indeed if in the doing of all this hard work we lost our ability to love and to cherish the memories of those transcendent moments when we showed genuine love to another. If GPD was not worthy of that, it is just another fact that we deal with in this “sad world” in which we all live.

But I think the world in more complex than that. It is certainly sad, tragic and hard but there are moments of joy, courage and transcendence that light the way forward.

I celebrate that. OK?

Happy Valentines Day Unbeliever

HE

15 02 2007
An unbeliever (22:45:45):

Your response was sadly predictable. The fact that you chose Valentines Day to extend a collective hug and indulge in a little trip down the sweet side of memory lane with George Dubie prompted me to write. Yes, even Hitler, Stalin, Mao, Pol Pot and Pinochet must have had their moments of romance and kindness. They must also have been masters at making ordinary individuals feel that they were the chosen ones sitting at the right hand of God, even if it was only for a brief moment in time before someone else took that position. But do those moments make up for the grief and pain he caused? Shall we excuse the lies, cheating and stealing, physical violence, rape and sodomy, chaining a little boy in a bath without food while his mother watched on? The list goes on. You dirty the occasion of Valentines Day and its message of love, pure and simple by connecting it to him on this message board.

You, Hawaiian Eyes, claim that you’re trying to get the bottom of all this by going over it incessantly, like an alcoholic claiming that if he has just one more little nip he might find out why he’s addicted to the stuff. You’re picking at sores that will never heal until you shift your attention elsewhere. I guess you all, or were, drawn to Eastern religion through Dubie’s guru status, yet you all ignore the fundamental message in Buddhism: the past is dead and the future hasn’t arrived yet. Here in the NOW is where we should be. Read Krishnamurti, or even better, Eckhart Tolle’s book ‘The Power of Now’ because he sums it up better than I ever could. Instead of picking at the bones of a dead conman with more money than sense, think how many wonderful people there are in this world for you to connect with.

Before you decide to hammer me for what you see as -taking the moral high ground- let me assure you that I’ve been on the receiving end myself in a couple of relationships; women who could have taught Dubie a thing or two about cruelty and how to string someone along even when you don’t want them. It was only when I stopped trying to make sense of it all that I moved on.

hawaiianeyes (00:49:43):

Hello Unbeliever,
Sorry you are obviously a real person. I mistook your quick hit and run for a troll.

I think that we have more in common in our assessment of GPD than you know.

I am not a blind “believer” in GPD, in Buddhism, new age trips or in any absolute dictate. I am a student of life and I have my eyes wide open. And yes, I have read Eckhart Tolle’s book.

You appear to attempt to pigeon hole me as an addict- incessantly picking at sores so they won’t heal. Sorry that doesn’t ring true to me. Yes, I am ruthlessly stubborn at digging out the cancer that he would have infused my soul with. I have busted so many secrets on this guy it can not be understated that I have used the power of truth to decimate him-in court, in my life, in a broader context. So NO I won’t back down.

What we were trying to get at here is that sad dichotomy of discovering a monster in your bed even years after the fact. What do you do if you are Hitler’s mother? We stand united in our hatred of evil and lies. But until the last breath there is still a chance of “redemption” in the Power of Now.

GPD is dead that chance is gone. We who were his targets are not. “Moving on” is a reckless obsession of those who cannot bear the untidiness of pain or life. If there is no past or future only the endless parade of NOW then there is no depth or dimension to life, there is no chance to learn or grow or reflect. More than anyone I ever encountered GPD was addicted to the POWER OF NOW.

Sadly predictable arguments and labels have been interjected into these discussions before. Still, I have continued to make solid progress forward and hold the past/present/future in my eyes at one time without any reservation.

You find our ‘group hug” a saccharine exercise. This may be just that you find yourself in the company of sentient women who have a well developed code for survival which includes moments of real tenderness beyond the “suck it up and move on” mantra that would crush all honest excavation and removal of accumulated toxic messages of repression. Perhaps you are male-”on the receiving end of a few relationships with women who could have taught …” and this dialogue is especially foreign.

Any way, I agree the guy was a monster. I do not agree that you are “taking the moral high ground”. You seem to be a bit incapable depth of thought if anything. I do agree that you can not make sense of insanity or a crazy person. But I do not think that GPD was insane or crazy he was just a sly twisted narcissitic sociopath. You talk about finding better people to connect with, I agree 100% there; for my part my life is rich and full of real people that I am all the more thankful for having seen what I have.

Just to be sure you understand. I DO NOT EXCUSE THE LIES, ABUSE, RAPE the list goes on and on. His actions dirtied his claims of love. I burned all his love letters long ago with his “valentines” cards.

I hope you can listen to what I say next because it is a totally different topic.

MY Love is another story all together. Because it comes from ME. I am not a liar a cheat. I am a real person. I celebrate my love of life, truth and others who seek it and stand against the horrors of hell and extreme wealth and power to fight for it.

As far as I am concerned our Valentines wishes to each other affirm the beauty of life. Something that women who have been brutalized cherish all the more because of the horrors we have seen.

Peace unbeliever-(now maybe at least you can “move on”)

Bernadette (01:56:47):

It is truly a sad world when some people do not even have any consideration at all of other people’s feeling. We are dealing this experience with Daniel in different ways. If someone can’t understand that, who cares! Besides HE, you are entitled to express your feelings however you want to do it….Valentines day or not. As far as I know HE, you are not trying to offend anyone. You were just being honest to yourself. It’s your feeling. If this is a way for you to heal the wound…..just pour it out. Keep on talking and sharing. I am sure there are people learning from following this story. it is not a bad thing. I am here to listen as well.

Darn, if only my English is better, I will share more on this blog. Sometimes the word just don’t come out right.lol. But whatever. I am sure people who shares the same feeling with me or who are open minded can understand me. And for the “others” that don’t want to understand, I don’t give a f-

Mahalo,
Bernadette

PS.

“As far as I know, the only dirty thing on Valentines day is when you pretend to love someone and cheating at the same time. Oh wait, maybe this is the right word….the only thing dirty on Valentines day is when you said to the person “I love you and you are the only one for me and turn around and say it to another person… just to turn around again and say the same thing to again another person”…..etc. Isn’t that the dirtiest game for a man and woman to do on Valentines day. I think it is pretty disgusting. And S-! It’s like someone is shooting a gun in your heart not only once or twice or three times but over and over and over again! Darn. Though it is a little late, I learned the truth and thank God I am still alive!

fruittbat (20:14:12) :

The exchange between HE and Unbeliever above parallels some of the discussions on the previous Thai Visa forum on this topic. It seems we are looking at two distinct world views here. As I see it, HE does not want to “move on” in the sense of learning about dirt, vacuuming up the past dirt, and resolving never to get a dirty house again. HE’s world view is much more complex than just accepting conventional notions of what constitutes “psychological hygiene”. She recognizes the intrinsic “messiness” and complexity of life. She understands a lot about love and compassion. She knows from bitter experience that even the worst monster is often a pathetic, broken, sick, human being hiding under violent and destructive masquerades. She knows that the meagre moments and shreds of love given by the monster are still “love” in some form, just as the love of each of us is imperfect. She cherishes the opportunity she had to give love, even to someone we all condemn as “unworthy”.

These are my thoughts, and I am projecting them a bit to try to understand the big, generous views of HE, a woman whose brave voice is my friend and an inspiration.

Unbeliever also makes some valid points, in my opinion. There is no denying that GPD WAS a monster - a Pol Pot, violator of women’s hearts, wanton torturer, unable to see others as people but rather as objects of his gratification. Unbeliever “believes” in moving on as a solution, and there is merit in the Buddhist precept of living in the moment. But what is the “now”/the moment? It is the sum total (and then some) of all that has gone before, as well as the womb of what will occur. HE has reached out to connect generously with all who have been affected by GPD’s death.

Unbeliever, your view wants “closure”, “finality”, and end to suffering and discussion of the past. I am reluctant to say this, but maybe yours is a male view of the world, one which believes in rationality, authority, finality, certainty, facts. I cannot see life as being so simple. In my view, life is a messy, circular, often revised and revisited process. To me, it is through this complexity, this learning in the light of new insights and new experiences that we grow in understanding and - sometimes- love.

Namaste (00:35:02) :

“I would love to kiss you,
the price of kissing is your life,
now my loving is running toward my life, shouting, ‘What a bargain, let’s buy it’.

Friend, our closeness is this, anywhere you put your foot feel me and the firmness under you.
What is it with this love?
I see your world, and not you.

Out beyond ideas of wrong doing and right doing, there is a field,
I will meet you there.
When the soul lies down in that grass the world is too full to talk about…
ideas, language, even the phrase ‘each other’ doesn’t make any sense.

They try to say what you are, spiritual or sexual?
They wonder about Solomon and all his wives.
In the body of the world they say there is a soul, and you are that,
but we have ways within each other that will never be said by anyone.

Listen, if you can stand to, union with the Friend means not being who you’ve been, being instead silence,
a place, a view
where language is inside seeing.

Today, like every other day,
we wake up empty and frightened.
Don’t open the door to the study and begin reading, take down a musical instrument.
Let the beauty we love be what we do.
There are hundreds of ways to kneel and kiss the ground.”

Bernadette (11:13:07) :

Time heals wound.
We cannot expect changes just like that.
It is a matter of time.
Everyone deals every emotion in different ways.
Because I am not you nor you are not me.
There are some that just likes to talk or to write about their feelings.
But there are some that likes to end life instead.
I’d rather talk or write even no one wants to listen. Now that’s brave. And as long as there is tomorrow, There will be a brand new day. And as that new days come along, Life change, emotions change, people change. It’s just a matter of time.

Beautiful words, Namaste and Bernadette, I love both these past two comments thank you for the beauty this morning.

HE, Fruitbatt, I often struggle with this saying but I do believe it is true: Love is never wrong. I sometimes find myself very close to being convinced that it is the action of loving others, that is the whole point to love. Love expended always comes back to us, even if from corners and quadrants we weren’t expecting.

Dance like no one is watching, sing like no one is listening and love like you’ve never been hurt. Three simple statements. So difficult to put into practice.

I honor those of you, HE expecially who continue to love, past present and future despite the agony of it.

Sincerely,
Hazel.

hawaiianeyes (11:55:58):

I so appreciate this delightful pallet of modes of expression shared on this thread; it is thrilling to go from the extreme poetry of it all to the gritty reality of a new cold grey day. [It is a real pleasure and an honor to know you all and to correspond so freely]

I feel each of us sees views through this kaleidoscope that can help the others. Vanessa with beautiful mesmerizing eyes and a lost tender gaze
Felicia full of life and adoration
Angel Crane trampled, used, yet bravely now parenting Jeana writing to me (?) asking to be believed in (?)
Geri wanting all that is HERS (!!) back

We, conversing here, were largely in the wind shadow of this recent cataclysmic “end” of the Katrina like whirlwind that was this man’s life.

Namaste on the one side sings of tenderness and the “place beyond right doing and wrong doing” where our souls lie down together. I know that place well and it is a safe restful transforming place.

Unbeliever speaks of facts and rages at our poetry.

Fruittbatt wisely articulates and adjudicates our philosophies.

Bernadette and Kari speak from the front lines of the reality of life with GPD

I do hope to express the voices of our lost twins whose miscarriage I now see as a choice not to enter this world of tears. Their middle names: Aloha-Love and Mae’mae-Truth. My aim in writing all this is to stand for unconditional love together with unconditional truth. GPD seemed to flee the idea of unconditional truth. I do not see one without the other. To truly love, I think we must start with ourselves and be ruthlessly truthful even with the confusing circular issues that never neatly resolve. If a certain puzzle cannot be solved “if it is beyond the place of right doing and wrong doing” then it is.

(This is the Fact of the world we live in. Even the rational world of scientific analysis teaches us this. Light is neither simply a wave nor a particle it is both; mathematical models that describe light as a wave are correct yet incomplete so to for particle theory. Science, at the leading edge, is ultimately driven by those with a hunger for the unknown to break through the mysteries. There are no facts at the leading edge of the known and the unknown yet this is where all new facts are discovered. This process is not neat or tidy or linear and often requires circling back again and again with apparent diversions and regression but the breakthroughs yield quantum leaps in progress, understanding and new elegant solutions that are well worth the frustrations of the determined.)

If there are things about GPD that were clearly destructive and dishonest then they need to be frankly repudiated. IF there was love even great love in the midst of that then there just was. One does not negate the other. To me, his ability to love together with his conceit that there was no TRUTH is the greatest tragedy of his life and can whipsaw his “beloved”s into a state of perpetual vertigo. I have been to that place and it is not safe. I have not “moved on” because I hope to call out to those who may still be there.

Bernadette, I share your thankulness for each new day! Peace

Hi Lee,

The filings regarding the estate are a matter of public record. You may see them on line or go down to the court house.

http://hoohiki2.courts.state.hi.us/jud/Hoohiki/main.htm

It is still in process. I think your question about Geri is a sticky one. On one hand certain assets of “his estate” may not stand scrutiny specifically with regard to specific instances of fraud. I do not want any part of those battles and I have said previously all I think I need to about that topic.

I do care very much about the children, ALL of them. I have done what I could to encourage independent counsel for Angie and the minor children. It is now in other hands.

Allison Hanes (13:48:33):

Hi there,

My name is Allison Hanes and I am a reporter with the National Post, a national daily newspaper in Toronto, Canada. I recently started looking into the imprisonment of Margaret Crane and the murder of Daniel Dubie and have quickly realized there is much more to it than initially meets the eye.

From what I can tell, media coverage of the case so far is just the tip of the ice burg. I would like to probe deeper into who this man was, the extent of his activities across the globe and the incredible influence he has had over people. I am also interested in Margaret or Jeanna Hart’s complicated relationship with him and with the other women in his lives.

I would be interested in speaking with any of you who would be willing.

I realize that many who have posted on this blog are intimately acquainted with Daniel Dubie and that he left indelible marks on many of your lives. From reading I see that many of you have very complex feelings for and about him. I promise I am open minded and willing to listen if you are willing to share. I can also assure some measure of discretion.

In any case, thanks for hearing me out.

Allison

Margaret Crane, a Victoria woman arrested in connection with the July 2, 2006, shooting death of Daniel George Dubie, will be tried in a Thai court in January 2008.

“At least we have a court date,” Margaret Crane’s oldest daughter, said Angel Crane. “I’ve been told she has two hours to plead her case.”

Although she never married or lived with him, Margaret, 48, had six children by Dubie, a cult-like figure who has been compared with Charles Manson and Jim Jones in various media and websites, including the Honolulu Star Bulletin.

Angel Crane and one of her five siblings will appear as witnesses at the trial in Chiang Mai next year. Margaret Crane, who has been officially charged with pre-meditated murder, will plead self-defence.

Crane sends her mother packages with chocolates and photographs of the children. Margaret sends handmade cards and crafts. Last month, Crane received a Valentine handkerchief from her mother.

“Dearest Angel Valentine, Our Hearts Are Eternally Joined. I love you,” Margaret embroidered on the hankie.

From the day Margaret was arrested, Crane has tried to keep her family together. Two days after the shooting, a family friend brought Margaret’s five youngest children, three girls and two boys, aged five to 15 years, to Victoria. The children were initially placed in a foster home. In August, Crane won custody of her brothers and sisters.

Six months later, the plucky 23-year-old said looking after five children gets a little easier every day.

The Ministry for Children and Families gives Crane a certain amount of money per child and pays health premiums for the children. She is able to rent a spacious house with assistance from B.C. Housing.

Every second week, Crane meets with a family care development worker.

Crane has also been offered six days of respite care a month. On respite days, the children return to their original foster home to give her a break.

She’ll be back in court on March 1 to assess how well the first six months have gone.

“We want that to continue for another six-month order, then try and make the custody arrangement more permanent,” Crane said.

Christmas was joyous, but also stressful for Crane, who played Santa Claus for the first time.

“I had to remember to bring in the reindeer food before morning,” she laughed.

The children received presents from parents and teachers at the school, a chiropractor’s office and from Saanich police, who have been incredibly supportive, Crane said.

“There was cheer and happiness and giving,” she said. “When I need help, someone just sort of pops up
Bernadette (12:09:21):

Hi HE, thank you for sharing these information to all.

To Angel Crane and other children, I am glad to hear that they are doing fine.

I admire Angel for keeping her family together. She is brave!

To Jeanna, I hope she win her case in Thailand and serve her crime in Canada instead for the sake of her children.

Bernadette

Dear Hawaiin Eyes, Bernadette, Fruitbat, Gerry, Angel Crane and All,

I’ve been in contact with Allison Hanes of the National Post regarding the Crane/Dubie case. She has indicated a desire to bring together the stories of those of you who have had dealings with GPD.

I encourage you to contact her, if for nothing else just to find out how important your stories are to the general public.

I am very passionate about raising awareness around issues of control and oppression especially with regards to cultic activities.

I am going to give Allison a call as soon as my phone is juiced up.

Much affection,
Hazel.

hazel8500 (14:23:33):

Thank you H.E for sharing that article. It is so touching the love of mothers and daughters. I am so amazed by Angel Crane. She is such a beautiful person. And for once I get to be really touched and impressed by the actions taken by the ministry of Children and Families. I know how overburden the ministries are all across Canada, so kudo’s to them for doing so well by the Crane children.

hawaiianeyes (17:00:08):

Dear Namaste,

Are you willing to share anything about your identity?

The passages you have shared are wonderful and speak to a great depth of wisdom and understanding.

I saw GPD exhibit a remarkable ability to intuit, synthesize and recreate previous writers work to suit various situations with breath taking perception. In his case, I grieve that he may not have integrated these extraordinary philosophies into his own soul but somehow borrowed them like a type of costume to put on to mesmerize me and others. I am sorry to present such an analytical view but that is one of my greatest fears about him. I will not presume to know but I am of course saddened that his life failed to show actions to match the beauty of much of his words and letters.
Still Namaste, I wonder if you are Sarada and were a valued teacher to him. Or if you are Felicia and you have reached a wonderful level of wisdom despite your young age and tragic losses.

Whether or not you choose to share more of your identity, please do know that I am very grateful for your voice here and that I think that there are times that words fail us, intellects are powerless and only love can be heard.

Dear hawaiianeyes,

I care not to pose the question “who am I?” There is an ultimate grace in ‘not knowing’. Suffice to say that the grievous fallout of this unfortunate event begs a generous degree of ‘mindfulness’…

I’ve been in contact with Allison from the National Post, i am happy to report she has been given an extension on her deadline, what this means is her investigation is valued by the post. The story that is so valuable my friends, is yours.

You are all so important, I hope you all know that.

And I wish you all nothing but a cornucopia of goodness.

Bernadette (14:17:06):

I am willing to share my story if it will help Jeanna. I maybe not have alot to share since Daniel isolate me from everything. I do believe from discovering everything about Daniel through this page that my case was different from every women Daniel got involved with. Like I said I have no knowledge about the other women. I know Daniel Dubie from the person he protrayed….a sweet, romantic, thoughtful, great dad, has a heart for people in need, love kids, intelligent, dedicated to his job and maybe wealthy but down to earth and very simple guy.

I thought…..he was this person.
I believe…..in him and everything he said.
I fell in love…..was in love.
But I felt so betrayed…
And he made me feel like stupid…
Some kind of a doormat…..
He used me.....
Fooled me.....
HURT ME!

Bernadette, I admire your willingness to tell your story on behalf of Jeanna, but in my honest opinion, the only reason to do so is for you, yourself.
It’s not an easy decision, It’s not one I am ready to make for myself yet. I mean bits and pieces here and there but I have yet to sit down and tell all myself. It is not easy. Plus I find the emotions come back really strongly. So in the end if you do this, you need to make sure its the right thing for you personally to do.

sincerely,
Hazel.

hawaiianeyes (10:52:06) :

Hi Bernadette,

Thank you for sharing your synopsis. I find it “right on”. I think that you do know what other women went through. At least it reads exactly like what he constructed for me to believe AND I believed it! So now we victims are left with PAIN -not a little pain but a horrible traumatic pain. For me he was down right physically and emotionally abusive and cruel and then flipped back to the wonderful fellow….

So our shadowy wise owl says:
Unresolved pain begets more pain.

I guess I could interpret that as a warning not to reflexively attack out of our our pain. I think that wisdom is called for But I do not feel that passiveness will bring healing. I think that it is a “dark forest” we find ourselves in. I do believe in healing. I think it requires a certain amount of dedication to heal a willingness to endure the pain that may require such as facing the TRUTH about what happened to us and his LIES. In the end if that causes some harm to our fantasy or to others who participated in that so be it. I would not avoid that conflict.

I have made a lot of progress but I am still troubled by reliving again and again out of the blue, certain particularly cruel things he did. I have benefitted from professionals and I for the most part perfectly functional and at peace but I want to be rid of all of these thorns – I am now trying something new – EMDR.

“Researchers believe that an unhealed traumatic memory is primarily stored in the right side of the brain. Additionally, research shows that when recalling severe trauma, the left side of the brain — which primarily controls verbal skills, logic, and optimism — essentially shuts down. Therefore, the victim of trauma often is unable to process memories and get them out of their head — instead, they relive moments over and over in their thoughts. EMDR triggers voluntary eye movements, which some researchers believe results in “accelerated information processing” by activating both brain hemispheres, says Bergmann. (There are a number of variations on EMDR therapy — some EMDR clinicians use a point of light instead of their fingers, others ask their clients to listen to sounds through a headset, others tap on their client’s palm. All are designed to stimulate both the left and right sides of the brain.)”

I wish all of us who were run over by this guy lasting and profound healing.

HE

Bernadette (11:06:12):

I understand how you feel Hazel. I just realised that talking about Daniel was not easy at all. Even when I say I am fine now, I know I could never talk about him without anger in my heart. I know I said it is just a matter of time and I will be fine. I guess I am not really in that pace yet.

I have no intention to harm anyone. There is saying “The truth will set you free”. I was freed from all the lies and pain Daniel caused me. Although it was too late, at least I know now the truth.

I only know Jeanna from the character she portrayed. I am angry at her for her role of playing with my heart and my emotions. The only reason I want to help (if I could) is because of her children. They are innocent and victims as well.

I just want Jeanna to pay her crime in Canada and not by a firing squad in Thailand. At least if she goes to jail in Canada, the kids can come visit her. I don’t think if they kill Jeanna that it would help the children’s emotions. Daniel was not an angel. He died because he was an evil man. I am not saying to kill is ok. I don’t think it is right to kill. I am not justifying Jeanna’s action. I really wish Daniel didn’t die. I just want Jeanna to pay her crime not by death. Even if she have to pay her crime in jail in Canada until her last breath, that’s ok. At least the kids can come visit her and she can talk to them and maybe enlighten her kids heart as to what happened. So the children grow up with understanding and without hatred in their heart. Unless of course Jeanna was a bad mother to her children. That is all! I just want an exemption in her case for the sake of their children.

This is just my opinion.

Bernadette

HE Thank you for that EMDR link, It looks really interesting.

Hi Bernadette, I feel the same way about Jeanna/Margaret I would like to see her come back to Canada to serve her sentence. And yes my opinion also comes down to what I hope is best for the kids involved, adult and otherwise.

Your healing is just as important. 😊 take care.

I am not impressed by Allison Hanes. Somehow she was able to find contact information for me. She worked hard to win my confidence and I shared a good deal that was difficult to go through. In the end she is not going to report this aspect of the story. I feel tricked and angry. Please be careful.

hazel8500 (01:27:22):

Hawaiianeyes, which aspect of the story? The other women? Other children?

The article comes out Saturday (tomorrow) in the National Post.
I’m quite nervous.

10 03 2007

Dear Hazel,

I have read the story. I had been informed that the following would be a part of the story:

**************************
Ms. Tate was not the only seemingly wise and intelligent woman inexplicably blindsided by Mr. Dubie’s charms against her better judgement.

A woman in Hawaii, who wants to remain anonymous, described how in the 1990s she was introduced to Mr. Dubie by a respected member of the community.

He constructed a ruse of a proposed business collaboration and invited her for a visit. While at his home he forcibly raped her, physically assaulted her and threatened her with more violence if “you don’t stop crying”.

The woman went to the emergency room, but refused to reveal the identity of her attacker either out of shock and deference for his status.

Afterwards a penitent Mr. Dubie repeatedly called her and begged her forgiveness for having gotten “carried away”.

“He leveraged mercy to get into my life further and do even more damage,” she told the National Post. “He said he wanted marriage and a family and the whole nine yards.”

The woman has testified on behalf of others in Hawaii who successfully obtained restraining orders against Mr. Dubie.

“I was the bad cop,” she said. And yet still he kept writing and phoning — his last call coming just a month before his death.

“He was an absolutely fixated upon the need to keep a certain number of women around him and keep them separate and have them available 24/7,” she said. “This was a man whose deception and victimization of a woman goes to the level of an extreme obsession to possess and retain.”
Beyond this breach of trust and waste of time, I do not find the flavor of the piece to show the horrific depth of this man. He is betrayed as a “fraudster” with followers “not as strong” as him. I do not think it has to do with personal strength. The guy was a sociopath - an insidious monster. He did not care about others as people. Monsters among us are always shocking not because they are strong but because the rules we live by reflexively are foreign to them. He was married to Geri. Geri was duped and sucked in 110% and thus used in his cons of others. She does not impress me as a weak bubble headed person. While in that marriage was a monstrous predator- not “seducer”. He was a convicted FELON who did time a OCCC. I just don’t see the level of horror in this piece. He physically abused people over sustained periods of time. Worse yet it was a calculated sadistic integrated physical/psychological/intellectual/spiritual abuse. WHO does those things? How did he become this monster? How was he able to move among us as well as he did? What other horror was he guilty of? What about pornography and human trafficking? What about drugs? What about Kristen? The reason he was so dangerous is as Angel is quoted in the piece-he made his predation very personal and worked very hard to get deep into a person’s head and then attempt total domination and control. He used pregnancy and children to further that aim. That is all so sick. I think that the piece should have been a lot stronger.

hazel8500 (10:44:31) :

I wrote my comment before checking on comments. I see HE you are no happier today.

I don’t think the scope of the horror this man visited on you and the others can possibly be fit into a news article. Mabey a series of articles, but not just one.

The thing I am really happy about is that this is the first National coverage of this saga. THE FIRST! Other than the Vancouver Sun, The Times Colonist is the the only other Canadian publication I can find that has picked up the story, and I expect thats because of the personal ties they have to Angel Crane, who works there from time to time. And thank god for that.

The thing I am wondering about is the absolute lack of mention of Geri?

I cared for her daughter while she recovered from being POISONED by her (Margaret).

I cared for her daughter while Margaret abandoned her.

Her own mother cared for the children she abandoned- one being Angel.

I wish everyone would stop seeing her as a victim and see her for what she is- a terrible woman who harms children... plus all she was with Daniel.

hazel8500 (21:26:57):

Hello Goneaway its nice to “read” you again.
I know you’ve been through h3ll with this and have an upfront and center point of view. I agree there is a lot of mythos surrounding GPD and Margaret. I hope the truth is uncovered sooner rather than later.

hazel8500 (21:31:38):

Hello Theresa, I am sorry I have no knowledge of this. I have heard through this blog that there was a baby born recently in Hawaii fathered by GPD, this could be the child you are speaking of.

hazel8500 (21:36:05):

Theresa if this newest baby was born just this past December then there would have had to be a meeting between the infants mother and GPD sometime in April 2006 only three months prior to GPD’s death. I doubt he was in Hawaii at that time, so would this have taken place in Thailand?

I wonder if Pim is aware of this?

PS, if you scroll up through the messages, you can read about various invitro fertilization procedures alleged to have occurred in Oahu clinic. Wonder if that is a factor?

11 03 2007

Hi Hazel,

Daniel was here last April/May attending to matters in Hawaii and his mother’s death in CA. He was here with Pim but likely made his rounds. I do not think there was any in vitro ever. That was just another cover story.

The names a birth dates of all the children are a matter of public record in Hawaii but I do not think that should be discussed on line. I think that privacy for those who seek it should be protected and respected.

I also observed child neglect on a worrisome level so I do not think that Margaret should be glorified. I worry that GPD put all his women into a baby race of sorts. He taunted me with photos of Sylvie surrounded with her children. Even so I think that Margaret deserves a chance at counseling and rehabilitation. I am angry at her for her role in enabling his schemes. She did not apologize for that in her letter to me. I would like her to apologize to all the women that he abused and victimized for her role in it. I would be satisfied with real remorse. I do not see her as a victim. She murdered him and she made clever moves after the fact. The gun has never been recovered, she tossed it. So this is not any black and white 2 hr TV movie with a tidy ending. I interpret the facts as aggravated manslaughter.

I wish that I could better convey the extremes of this man. It seems that most of his love targets were fairly well protected from his extreme sadism. Pim, Bernadette, Geri seem only to suffered neglect and fraud and to have enjoyed sustained periods of his remarkable perceptive, intuitive, soulful, fully-present company, together with his great intellect and creative depth. It sounds though from what I have read that others, Sarada, Craig Ingraham, Angel Crane, myself and 2 others I know of were treated to that aspect of him as well as the Mr. Hyde-physically/emotionally/mentally tortured in calculated ways for sustained periods of time. With me he told me that I was a warrior and acted like we were in some type of secret boot camp. He professed great and eternal love and was the most remarkable friend I had ever had. But then he would snap into all types of horrifying abuse, blame me, be penitent and return to his calm loving self. We had to run 6-10 miles/day, he rarely slept more than 3 hr at a time and was constantly on the move and on the phone. He had me drive him all around and wait blocks away. I do not think that it was all about his quest for paramours. I sincerely believe that he was obsessed with power and some type of illegal underground operations. I met many of his business associates and they were often shady types. He dealt with large sums of cash.

Anyway, I hope that this story continues to come out and that pressure is brought to bear on Geri and Margaret to dig deep into phone records travel credit card use to put together and expose what this man was up to. I am worried about the “fraudster of flower children” epithet that would trivialize the potential horrific depths of this man and keep so much he had worked hard to sweep under his “Prince of Dubai” magic carpet still hidden. I think that Margaret should be offered extradition and immunity to fully reveal what she knows. His travel Asia/Central America-Nicaragua Costa Rica/ Zurich/Amsterdam/Africa was frenetic. What was he up to?

HE
Bernadette (23:28:34):

Goneaway, I don’t sympatize Jeanna at all! She maybe also a victim of Daniel’s spell but she is a killer and must pay her crime. I am not saying for her to come back to Canada and go shopping at the Mall. I just want her to not die in Thailand but pay her crime in Canada “FOR THE SAKE OF HER CHILDREN”. ……As I quote from my previous comment…..”UNLESS” of course she was a bad mother to her children. I don’t know what you’ve been through with these people. You have your own experience with them and I have mine. My care is only for the children.

Everyone is entitled to say their opinion. I am not here to shut anyone off for whatever they want to say nor to judge. Like everyone else here, I am also a victim of Jeanna and Daniel’s lies.

Peace,

Bernadette

goneaway (06:11:42):

I am peacefully saying, the woman is a threat to her children. She is a threat to society. She is a murderer and should be convicted of that. She got away with attempted murder when Social Services and the Gov’t let her off the child abuse charges when she tried to poison her daughter who was in my care. They said “she has really good lawyers, we can’t beat them”.

Justice would be the Gov’t providing for these babies with financial and emotional aid and keeping their mother behind bars. I think Jeannie should be behind bars, not killed by firing squad. I think the Canadian Gov’t has paid for and should continue paying for these children while the THAI Gov’t pays for Jeannie to be behind bars in the country the crime was commited in.

AND DNA tests should be done for the rightful father to step forward (or outta the grave) and pay financially for these kids. All the time I knew Jeannie she drove new vehicles and wore nice clothes but never worked for anyone but Michael (Daniel Dubie)…. shouldn’t there be money to support the kids?? I am positive she knows where some money is and could be doing that too… instead of milking everyone around her for it.

HOW MANY OF US LOOK LIKE KRISTEN MODAFFERI?

It sure was scary to hear the story (up to the time she went missing) being so similar to mine- and when I saw her photo it was like staring at myself! (save my hair was wavy curls)

There is some major questions needing to be answered, and if Jeannie had a heart she would tell. She doesn’t, and she won’t. Sad.

hazel8500 (10:37:03):

Hi Goneaway, I just wanted to quickly say I see eye to eye with you on this. I also want Jeanna to come back to Canada to serve her sentence. I fear that if she should die by firing squad in Thailand, her secrets will die too. I don’t know if she will ever spill everything she knows or has done, but I think Canada should really step up to the plate and at least try.

With Angel in charge of her siblings, and with her head screwed on as well as it is in spite of everything she’s been through, I believe (I hope) the children will be safe whether or not Jeanna comes back or stays and dies in Thailand.
Goneaway, I am so pleased that you have found your way to this blog. The information you’ve supplied has really given me personally a better understanding of the situation, and I thank you for that from the bottom of my heart. Thank you!

I hope to continue my crusade to heighten awareness of cultic abuse in our society, and I hope you and everyone else who’ve been following this thread get your day in the sun and find freedom from what this man has done to all of you.

hazel8500 (10:47:52):

Also I wanted to touch base on something else Goneaway has asked, How many of us look like Kristen Modaferri? This is an excellent question. You may or may not be aware of the research I’ve been doing into the missing women in North America, Kristen included.

I have noticed a disturbing trend; the similarities between features of the missing and murdered in BC, AB, SASK, it is terrifying.

Now, the physical appearances of the missing and murdered I’ve been following do somewhat match Kristen’s appearance, long dark hair, big smile, flashy eyes.

Kristen went missing from San Fran. San Fran seems to be a spot between many of Dubie’s travels.

So we have a preponderance of dark haired beautiful young women going missing along the BC coast, The Californian coast, and from Juarez Mexico boarder town to Texas.

many of the peasants murdered in Juarez came from other parts of Mexico to work at the Maq’s big US conglomerate factories.

So is there a possible connection between s.America, and USA and Canadian missing? And where has Dubie travelled?

Victoria BC across the prairies of Canada, San Francisco, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Hawaii, Thailand…..

Is it a coincidence that so many hot spots of missing people seem to be where ever he has travelled? Coincidence?

hazel8500 (10:57:38):

Okay, HE the timing is off.

But I found this sometime ago trying to determine if Daniel had any relatives in politics as there are a number of Dubie’s I’ve found in US and International politics. One being in Geneva which happens to be a prime player in fighting human trafficking globally.

Here is an article that I have to share with you and the readers here…
http://7d.blogs.com/freyneland/2006/11/dubie_defends_h.html

On Saturday, Brian Dubie staunchly defended his 2005 in-session winter vacation. His brother Mike Dubie was just wrapping up his tour in the Iraq war zone and asked if they could have a family get together.

“I took four days,” said Lt. Gov. Dubie, “and my regret is that my sons miss too much of family time.”

Brian and Mike Dubie?

Didn’t GPD use the name Michael as an alias?

13 03 2007

Dear Hazel,

I really don’t think there is anything in common but the name Dubie. GPD’s father was from CN not VT. There are plenty of Dubies and Dubois from Quebec on down. There is also a famous Norman Dubie but I do not know of any links at all. It may be a diversion to go down those roads.

Aloha,
HE

hawaiianeyes (18:49:15):

Hi Goneaway,

That is kind of creepy that you met Jeannie in a shopping mall. Kristen was last seen leaving a mall. She had a SF Guardian opened with ads at home. I know that GPD (and Margaret handled interviewing these applicants) were always advertising for helpers in natural food/spiritual enlightenment type newspapers. GPD bragged to me about getting all kinds of fringe people to come out to Hawaii to work on his Pupukea “ranch” for basically nothing. He seemed to think it was all fair game. …

Bernadette (23:47:32):

Well, that is how I met Jeanna … during her shopping spree at the Expo. She told me that she works in the Film Industry and that her boss (Daniel Dubie) was looking for a Nurse because he needs constant care as he was in a coma for 3 months due to an accident while making film in Australia. Oh, she was pregnant at that time. She told me all kinds of story about Daniel and she was even crying because she said that Daniel was her bestfriend for 25 years and she really cares for him.

And the rest is history…

P.S.
When it comes to GPD’s modus operandi for predation/recruitment of new “love victims” I know about the “ad” campaigns to attract folks to work at a spiritual healing spa in Hawaii, blah blah. It was mentioned that he met and started to woo “Sandra” above at a Make a Wish foundation fund raiser. HE also met and started his designs on me at a big exclusive pricey fund raiser dinner. So he seems to have followed certain recipes.

Very worrisome to me is his wolf in sheep’s clothing approach hiding among the sheep. I was sickened when he gave me a copy of his Millennium Peace Child tape because he was the prime camera man and comporting himself as a great enlightened spirit guide for Peace Child International.

He considered himself invincible and his crimes against me he saw as his perogative as he hid behind the monied skirts of Geri and all the cache of UN related childrens’s charities. He bragged to me that he was untouchable. I beleived that for years but I finally went after him anyway. In the end he admitted his actions against me and made various legal restitutions.

I have seen into the depths of darkness in his eyes and that horror will never leave me. I did not care and still do not care what fancy disguises he concocted to hide in or behind. I do want as this Millenium videos ends with to “Stand in the truth” which nauseated me when I first saw this as a spin on Geri’s “Stand in the Power of Truth” big video.

I pray for the day that all these lies are finally exposed and the freedom that comes from real truth heals those of us determined to find it.

I think that we on this thread have the collective information to unravel the curtains of lies that still seem to linger. I know of at least 5 folks with real actionable information that were so terrorized by GPD and Geri that they have not been heard from again here. Your title “Goneaway” reminds me of them although your experiences seem to date back further. Aloha-HE

HE excellent video. Its so very hard to watch knowing that GPD was deeply involved and we know how corrupt he was. The message used and propagated is such a good one, the film itself was such a positive hopeful film. I can see how trusting, young, hopeful people could easily be recruited in such a manner.

Bernadette, yourself and Goneaway you’ve hit on something very important here.

Their methodology.

When con’s find something that works, they improve on them but they don’t necessarily change them unless forced to by some outside factor.
The mall ruse, the connection to Kristen’s last known whereabouts and activities, and the plea for help. It’s no different than a serial killer using a ruse such as a broken leg or puppy to lure their victims.

I wonder how many more connections you guys could discover if there were more victims of Dubie and Jeanne/Margaret to speak out.

He’s dead now, it is okay to speak. He can not hurt you anymore, no more than what he’s already done. And there are people who do understand and do believe in what you’ve been through.

I wish you all healing and happiness.

When I met her in the mall, I had just got my first paycheck after moving to “the big city”. I had $$ signs in my eyes and was totally happy-go-lucky that day. She used a story about having a production company and wanted me to be in a commerical she was making for Pizza Hut. Thats how we got to know each other, but she saw me as a totally young and impressionable naive little girl who she could hook into. She was pregnant with her first son and used the fact that I loved children to her advantage. She introduced me to “Michael”, her brother- really Daniel- and wanted us to get romantically involved. If I hadn’t been dating a guy who was really serious about me, I might have fallen for it all. She pushed and pushed Michael on me, but I was not interested. He seemed strange to me… and I will NEVER dis-trust my instincts again!!!

But I want to stress that she used the production company to try to lure me into things with her- she wanted me to be in the commercial, then she tried to offer me a job– just really thought I’d jump all over the film industry thing. Also, trying to set me up with Michael (Daniel) was an objective. She realized I love children and claimed to name the baby (1st son) a name I chose (she asked me what I thought were nice names and I gave one- I don’t think it really is his name though) and left her 3rd daughter with me (she is the one currently 15 yrs old) (She abandoned the first 2, and they were raised by family members) She really tried to hook me any way she could.

I just wonder if Kristen was hooked by a friendly woman and a promise of a commerical spot or film industry job??

When the truth (whatever it really is) came out in my situation with Jeannie, “The Children of God” cult was associated with her in some way, but I forget how now- been too many years. Anyone have info about that?

Have any of you with any info about Jeannie/Maggie relayed the info to Dennis on findkristen.com? Any info might help find out what happened to her.

15 03 2007

hawaiianeyes (10:23:32):

Hi Goneaway,

This “production company” scam may have had deep and dark, very real roots. After the whole 9/11 FBI swirl of activity around GPD, I was told that he did have a criminal history and had been involved in film pornography but that he was not a jihadist and was not a “Prince of Dubai” but was a local thug born here. I don’t know anything more about his involvement in film pornography but agent Dan McLaughlin made a specific point of telling me that in his questioning of GPD (together with Geri!) that GPD said “I never loved her. I just used her for sex”. The FBI agent insisted that I file a TRO against him and accept no further contact at all. He also insisted that I submit police reports and medical records relating to the initial forcible rape.

I have written to Dennis just now:
“Hi Dennis, Please read todays last posting on:
http://hazel8500.wordpress.com/2006/08/03/victoria-woman-faces-murder-charge-in-thailand/ It would be good if you could respond on that thread to the writer of the mall comment.”

I met him directly without any involvement of Margaret. I remember his long lingering dark stares across the table at that fundraiser. I was intrigued. That night, Ray Kinney a respected member of a larger circle of my acquaintances took the time to make a formal introduction of him to me as “Prince of Dubai”. No one at the table seemed to question this. I accepted his legitimacy at the words of others. I wish that he had been introduced as a “convicted felon who did time at OCCC and has a rap sheet of fraud and abuse of others trust a mile long”……He was also often in SF so he could have picked up Kristen himself. Knowing his MO, he never liked to go out alone and always wanted some type of wingman, so maybe it was he and Onuma prowling the mall stopping in for coffee and chatting Kristen up…. Who knows? The point is that there is plenty of smoke around this guy and I think we should keep at this.

I wrote Dennis Mahon several weeks ago- told him what I knew. I hoped it might help somehow.

Her story is sad. As a parent it would be so hard to not know what happened to my child.

I would hope if Maggie knew anything she would tell. Could she appeal to the thai gov’t for some mercy if she could give any info on these things?? Or would she set herself up for more charges in other countries if she did? At least if she admitted crimes inthe USA and Canada she could get life in prison here (in north america) rather than face what could happen there!!

I also contacted Mahon through his board, left a link here and let him know about the connections we’ve found. I hadn’t heard back, but his board looked pretty slow. I’m not even sure if I still have the address to it.

Are you aware or anyone of you out there that Daniel or George Dubie ’s longtime girlfriend on Oahu gave birth to Daniel’s last son on Oahu this past December? I met the both of them Sandra and George Dubie at a make a wish event? I believe they have been a couple for many years? She is a first grade teacher…. How does she feel about this? I read about their infant in court documents. Does this make it George’s 15th child…How does Geri feel about this? Is this true?

hawaiianeyes (00:03:57):

Hi Teresa/TC,

Thank you for your voice here. If you have seen the court records, I think that you have answered the question about the children of record.

As far as what does Geri know and feel? I have no idea and I guess I do not think that that matters to this thread except to the extent that she may feel compelled to dig back and sort through the mountain of experience with GPD to sort through what was true and what were lies and to provide records to proper authorities with utter transparency to further unravel potential nefarious activities.

As far as being a long standing couple, and how does “Sandra” feel about all this. I am sorry I don’t know. I would hope that a new mother could be shielded and maintain peace of mind around her to simply focus on a new born child. The discussions on this thread have no immediate bearing on her situation. If at some point, it is her wish to know more then I would encourage the types of discovery paths we are on here. I feel sad that like so many of us, she may have been led to believe that she was a part of a “couple”. A man with so many “exclusive” relationships at the same time defies all my comprehension. How could he keep it all straight? How could he remember, study and master all the minutia that a woman remembers that make her feel that she is indeed safely part of a “couple”. It would seem from the time frame that he was at the same time a devoted partner to Pim, Bernadette etc. It is all so sad. I would not want to say a word to her about all this at this point. I would want for her to have his portrait and to remember his remarkable companionship and all his finer gifts and to nurture that loving environment for the newborn to absorb. To lose a father before death seems so tragic, yet I think that she could draw from his remarkable love a strength to go
How can I write all this when I have seen so much of the frauds and double dealing and criminal activity and seen his abuse to me that cost me so many years of my life? I still remember that love. I have not lost it. Why should I reject my own feelings of love for him? It is really because of that love that I fought/fight to crash down all the lies and find that fellow inside that mountain and to try in my ridiculous fantasy to save him from that life of lies. I detest his evil actions in life but I do not detest that inner soul. Why he made such bad choices I do not know, but when he last called me 6 weeks before his death I told him of my nightmare (just the previous night!!) that he was dying and that it was his heart and that there was blood everywhere. I yelled at him in that phone call to make his life right because of this dream I was convinced there was death around him eminently. He just laughed and said “I hope I do die first because if you do you will haunt my a*s forever”.

Aloha,

HE

hawaiianeyes (09:47:51) :

At the risk of re-igniting the outrage of Unbeliever, I will acknowledge that this is GPD’s birthday. If it is possible for a soul leaving the midst of the living to find truth and peace and “repent”- perhaps even in the last waning millisecs of life after all breathing stops and as the mind shuts down- I pray that he made some peace with the eternal.

Above, in this thread (on Sept 26 2006) I included one of his emails, in it he had written (perhaps there are identical copies of this sent to many of his love targets!?)
““You represent the hope, faith, trust and true testimony to the power of love that most people only dream about. You are right, our story would make such an empowering book…and one day I do think we should share it with the world…perhaps when I am through this maze and on the clear path of my new life”

I am still working out just what exactly was “our story”. I certainly did have “hope faith and trust” in that love. But I think in the end the “empowering” (empowering) aspect of this story is in the story of the walk along the path of the search for truth in love.

Namaste included a quote:
“Things are losing their hardness. Now even my body lets the light through.”
-Virginia Woolf

That quote resonated strongly with me. The night of that horrible assault as I laid there, him holding me so tightly I thought I would be crushed, he had yelled and threatened while crushing my skull with his hands that he would hit me on the head if I did not stop crying telling me not to move so I dared not, I watched the clock. Somewhere after 4 am I faded out into a dream. In the dream I was out at sea, bow crew in heavy weather, it was twilight and things were setting up to be a horrific night of terror at sea. I was setting up the bow dropping all sail lashing things down. I looked up and saw a rogue wave-the stuff of nightmares over 50 ft face and realized it was all going to be over in a few seconds. There was no way my sailboat no matter how great could take the force of this monster. I thought surely we will be knocked down should I latch on with my harness to the rail so that after it hits I can stay with the boat? I thought that would be futile so I just braced myself. The wave then hit and utterly shattered the boat and me to the point that I no longer existed, I was only a part of this wave. There was a transparent feeling even more than “even my body lets light through”. I think that dream represented my subconscious trying to make sense or reprocess the horror of rape especially in this situation in which I felt such love. I said “NO” I told him multiple times ahead of that horrible night that I would not be party to adultery ever and that if that happened to me I would commit suicide…..His violent rape of me was a type of death to me. I was shattered. I still cannot put it right in my mind. But in the shattering of the being are all kinds of new states of being. I have learned a lot about pain suffering love. I can relate to other women who have walked this dark forest seemingly alone. So in those ways I relate perfectly to Namaste’s last quotes:

“For I am every dead thing
In whom love wrought new alchemy.
For his art did express
A quintessence even from nothingness,
From dull privations and lean emptiness:
He ruined me and I am rebegot
Of absence, darkness, death, things which are not.”
- John Donne

“Only that which is truly ourselves has the power to heal.”
- C.G. Jung

I look at life as a path and the experiences all as some type of cosmic teachers. To the extent that each can be honored and engaged and listened to the path is richer. I do not see happiness as a goal. I see love and truth as the only companions worth holding on to.

18 03 2007

Bernadette (13:12:29):

HE, I can relate to your experience with Daniel. I understand how you feel. I hope soon you recover from this nightmare.

After discovering the truth about Daniel, I tried to remember how everything started between me and him. I tried to remember the things he said and the things we did. The reason why is because it was only in 2006 I found out the story of Kristen on the internet. I was hoping to find some clue.

Daniel was telling me that he wants to hire me to manage his SPA in Thailand but after he ditch me in Thailand I started to feel strange about this offer. I was only looking for the Houlistic SPA he owned in Thailand over the internet. I thought if I type his name, since he said he is known for the movies he produced like he told me, that information about him including his business would come out. But I was so surprised to see his name ties to Jon Onuma case. It worry me that when he came to see me again ( to apologize about not showing up at the Airport in Thailand), I decided to asked him about Jon Onuma. He seems was surprised and told me that he did not know that his name would come out like that on the internet. He doesn’t want to talk about it. I guess to avoid discussing it, he told me to dress up and his taking me out for a dinner. There is this restaurant that we always go in Waikiki. In my heart, I felt like there is something more to discover but then from the pictures I saw in his house posing with famous people, and having a daugther like Felicia who is involved in UN and that he dearly loved, that Daniel involvement with Jon Onuma was just plain innocent. I never asked him again. But anyway, when he came to see me again after few months of being away, I confronted him about it. He then told me that he loves me so much so he lied because he was afraid I am going to leave him. He told me that they were in the process of divorce already. I still broke up with him. He never stop calling me. I told him I can only be his friend and nothing else. He said he was fine with it. Then I remember in September last year that he wants me to meet him at his condo in Waikiki. There he showed me his divorce paper with Geri. He told me not to say it to anyone because of Geri’s reputation. He said their friends did not know about it. He wants me to come back to him. He said for me to wait a little longer and we will get married. I told him I will only believe when that time comes. He never give up. He would tell me on the phone that he was the one for me. He said that he was my true love and we were soul mate. I ignored him. I owned a business and keep myself busy. One day one of my client was talking about this man she had met at the beach in Kailua. She was telling me that she and her friend are going to see him at his house in Kailua the next day. When she said Daniel’s name, I asked her to show me his number. It was Daniel Dubie’s number. What a small world I thought. She told me that Daniel said his wife is Thai but living in Thailand. I was shocked and remember crying in front of her. Even though I broke up with him, somehow it affected me still. Again when he called me, I asked about it. He said this Thai girl was just a girlfriend from long time ago and that they share a business in Thailand. He said that she is crazy and they always fight. He said that she was stealing money from the business and so he was thinking to sell his share already. He never said her name. Then I told him that I sent Jeanna email. He then got angry with me and told me not to talk to her again cause she was a bad influence and that she is crazy and he will never see her again. And he also told me not to believe everything on the internet. I did not ask anymore questions but I thought it was sad cause I though Jeanna was his friend for so long. Everytime Daniel’s mood change I just keep my mouth shut.

In February, he told me to come to his Kailua house. He said he wants to discuss a potential business with me along with his friends. That night I went to his house in Kailua. He introduced me to his friends. A man named David Wolf and a woman named Margaret. According to him David is famous in writing books about Spiritual Healing. Margaret lives in Maui and just came to visit. There were other people came to his house that night as well. They were David’s friend. They all look young and they spent their time drinking in the living room till 2 am. We never did discuss any business at all. I briefly talked to David. Daniel and I spent our time in the jacussi till 4 am. When I asked where Margaret was, he said that she was upstairs having sex with a man she just met that day. I could not believe what I was hearing. I cannot believe Daniel is allowing it to happen to his house. As far as I know, he is a very descent man who wants privacy at all times. We were awake the whole night. We discussed about relationships but when he doesn’t like my opinion he would shut me off. With all these things I observed that night, I realize there is more to know a bout this man but I felt like I had enough. I am not buying his story anymore. I left just before 6 am. When I came home I sent him email right away . I told him how I felt and told him I don’t want to see him anymore. He was still calling me and sometimes I ignore it. So many times he set up a dinner with me. I promised him twice I will come but changed my mind. I never showed up. He would call me and leave messages. The last time I did not show up on a dinner, he called me and jokingly left a message saying, “I can’t believe you stood me up again. I feel hurt and my heart exploded and blood all over the floor.” Spooky huh. Then when I finally talked to him, I asked if he read my email. Apparently he did not recieve it. When I told him I sent the email to his office, he got mad at me. Later on he called me back with his upset voice and told me, you just tell the world about us. So I got angry and told him, I don’t care and hung up. I never heard from him again. I believe the last time I spoke to him was in between March and April. Then he called me on Mother’s day and left a message. He said, I quote “ Bernadette, I love you so much. Despite of what happened to us, I know in my heart you are the one for me. The first time I laid my eyes on you, I know you are my soul mate. I am your true love”. The next thing I know he is dead.

I wish I have info I could give to help find Kristen. This whole thing hurts me too. But it was too late when I start to discover everything. I feel bad about the children he left behind. In a way I am glad that I never got pregnant. I am truly sorry for all of us who was a victim of Daniel and Jeanna’s lies.

Oh yah, Daniel just have answer ready for everything. And because he knows I am the type of person that would not go into further discussion for the sake of peace in the relationship he knows exactly how to manipulate me. And for me to believe him how much he really loves me, he would send me flowers at work. And if he is not going to see me for awhile, he would made sure I know that he was there somewhere still thinking of me by sending postcards. He also loves to play songs on my cell phone. He likes this song “It’s hard for me to say I’m sorry”. What a skunk!

hawaiianeyes (05:53:59) :

Dear Bernadette,

You are so fortunate that you were not assaulted in that “come to my condo to meet my business associates to discuss a future business plan” scam!!

By Kailua home do you mean Lanikai on the water? The Waikiki condo near to the W (BTW it is featured in the “happy couple” wretch website scam photo montage by Geri above)? Favorite Waikiki restaurant Nicks? W? New Otani?

It really is nauseating to know his whole trip was a well practiced con. The “heart breaking” non stop pleading messages the letters/postcards/emails. The lies that all the other women in his life cannot be trusted are “crazy” “morons”. The “please wait a little more and believe in us”. It does all hurt very badly.

In the end his heart was literally broken by bullets of steel. His heart did explode. I do not know what to make of it.
all. I think I have felt the rage that Jeanna expressed that night in CM. Ultimately though as Namaste points out that rage comes back and I direct it at myself again and again. How could I have been so dumb trusting unsafe? How can I ever feel safe again? How can I forget all this and “MOVE ON”? Why did he hate me so much to do these things? I devoted myself to him gave him every ounce of my life and energy when I was in that mode of believing in his plan. Thank God I finally found the courage and strength to rejected him once and for all after what I saw with my twin pregnancy. That shook me to my core and I realized love or not I could not be safe with him. He was a liar to the core. That was about the time the song “Torn” came out. He used to play songs for me on my cell all the time. When he played that song after a very bad fight, I saw that he was so heartless.

hawaiianeyes (19:22:06):

Sorry TC but I don’t think the facts of his life show that he truly loved, respected or cared for anyone except perhaps Felicia. He certainly scammed Geri out of huge amounts of cash; carried on horrendous acts of betrayal on Geri, Sandra and Pim ( lets just say every single woman he ever professed to “love”)—so I don’t think you could call that true love and respect—at least I wouldn’t. Kari was no “side fling” mothering 3 of his children and spending years by his side. I would say what a tragic waste of a life…..

Bernadette (02:16:01):

t.c., Thank you for your comment. Yes, Daniel Dubie is wicked. He is a devil. Luckily even he is dead now, his evil game is being exposed to teach everyone of us. I am sure, there are some men who play the same kind of game to women out there just like we see on the news. We really have to be careful.

In my opinion, I don’t think Daniel has love and respect for any of his women, that includes Geri, Pim and Sandra. If he loves any of these women, he should not cheat and lie to them. I don’t think he even knows the meaning of LOVE. I believe he uses them as well, but just different from ME, HE, Kari and all other women who he said he loves. I think he stayed with these women for his own purpose. He used Geri because she is successful than him. She used Pim because she can get more comfortable being with her and having a second place to live, Thailand…..his getaway country. When I asked about all his Buddha collections, he told me that so many of them came from Thailand. He said he is Buddhist and Thailand is like a home to him. But he said that Thai girls always asked for money so he just can’t be with Thai girl…..what a liar! There is no possible way he can live there as long as he wants and open up a business without connection. Somehow he also used Pim. It doesn’t mean she got some of his money and time that she is loved and respect! The man never loved anyone!

I remember one day, he called me up to help him go to Health Food Store. He said he needs assistance cause he was recovering from his eye surgery. So I drove him to the store. When he was paying, his card was declined. He got upset. He told me it is impossible because he said he has millions of dollar in his account. Anyway, he decided to used another card and it works. He told me, “I don’t mind telling you I have lots of money because you are the only woman I’ve met that never asked me for anything”. I thought that was funny and joke to him and said ” So, how many women asked for your money? He said, I just knew because my friends tell me about it especially when we go to Asia, worst in Thailand. That is the only negative thing in Thailand, otherwise he really loves living in Thailand.

I also remember he said that the only reason why he likes to donate a large amount of money is because of his taxes. He said he have to give some to the government so they won’t take more of his money. I thought he was joking but I guess not, knowing he is a con. He used organization for his own purpose. As we can see, if he truly loves children and wants to help them, he would take care of his own children first and not abandoned and abuse them. He also bragged about his house in Kailua that it is paid off not like his neighbors. He said, they do not own their houses as they claim. The bank owns it. He said he works hard so his house is paid . I did not know at that time that Geri is also the owner of that house. What a scum bug!

My point is….where is the love? Where is respect? If he can cheat and used and abused women and children, then there is NONE!

hawaiianeyes (11:58:23):

Eeeks it just keeps going. With his retina problem he asked me to find the very best surgeon in Hawaii and I introduced him to a friend of mine, born in the same small town as my mother, who is the best trained eye surgeon here. I worked hard to be sure he got absolutely the best possible care and also brought him things to the hospital room at Queens! He certainly had his tag team of “go to girls” (“you are my one true love”) working to serve his every need…..

Back to TC, his use of women: Pim allowed him a foothold in Thailand. He told me Geri was all a business front and that she used him because in Herbalife the emphasis was on happy show couples. He wanted me to be invisible around her and that she would say nothing as long as her reputation was not affected. I once asked Felicia “who does your father say that I am?” she said that he told everyone that I was his best friend and that he was very protective of me to others and would defend his time with me. So that is how it was in that household until I saw the horrors that I saw and I realized it was all a mountain of lies.

He seemed to think of himself as the ultimate creator of “his reality” that he was a divine screen writer/producer/director of those in his life. Each love scene he played with great sincerity like a “method actor”. There were only a few times when I saw that façade truly start to crack. One time was after I had told him of a dream in which I saw him surrounded by all types of other women and children (AT that time I did not know of all the others so it was a weirdly prophetic dream). He suddenly became filled with rage and took my hand and told me to forget that dream that it wasn’t true and to NEVER speak to another woman about him. That “their lies” would destroy us and what we were recreating. His response was so startling and weird that I began to understand that he was severely tortured by things he worked hard to hide.

I think that many if not all of us in his life did truly love, care for and respect him. Even after losing respect for him, I think that love continues for some of us. But to try to make global statements that he loved/cared for/respected certain targets but not others, I think is really dangerous. The common theme is that he told each person that they were the one true love and all the others were flawed/crazy/using him…He told me that he loved Pim very much but he wanted to come back to me when his “path was clear”. He told me that he never loved Geri. I met “Sandra” and helped her. I think in the end he feared me but I don’t know about “respect”. He continued to profess “love” but I don’t know how to take that at this point. He did go to great lengths to “care” for me and went over board to lavish me (new cars etc). He took me around with realtors to find a house to buy me … but then I rejected him and ran away from all that and turned to fight the lies instead.

I wonder what would happen if we posted info “Wanted” type ads with his photo in Honolulu, Thai, SF and LA newspapers to see what other women are out there who had a life with him and what their stories are. I think all our stories are horrible for us as individual people but the greater fear I have is that we are the tip of the iceberg and that his “underground” life was truly criminal. IF we could break into that all our traumas may have some good ultimate use.

hawaiianeyes (18:23:21):

Sorry to be so blunt but as you have found this corner of cyberspace and have not really introduced yourself, I wonder-Who are you Theresa “T.C?” What is your research? Are you writing a book about this? You may note that Personal Prosperity did write in above and your research may reveal who PP is. You may have seen Iris write in. I have a guess who she is.You may also note that Ness P. wrote in. There is a lot of anger and these discussions are intimate and honest live time processing to catch up with years of questions. Why would you expect “Sandra” to write in with a newborn to tend to every waking moment. I think how Margaret fits in has been well considered and remains to be answered by her directly at some point (if ever).
Bernadette (00:54:56):

Yes, Ms TC, I also wonder who you are and what you are trying to accomplish here. I don’t want to sound mean, I am just as curious as HE about who you are.

Your comment:

I feel sorry for you Bernadeth and “H. eyes” It appears through your experiences with “Daniel” that you were there for him during his “beck and call” and during his “convenience”

Maybe you were right about this. I maybe there for him when he needs me but isn’t it that normal to be with the man you love when he needs you? . I was in love with him and so I did what I did to take care of him whenever he is around. No, it is not the money that I was there for him since I never asked him for that. Besides he chose to spend his money on me the way he wants it. He tried to pay my condo and buy me a new car. But I did not accept the offer. He maybe did not lavish me with all kinds of material things but he showed he cares and love for me. When I met him, I was in the process of opening up my business. I finally did open my business and he was proud of me. He supported me by giving me hints on how I can improve my business, bought me plenty of books about business, and gave me a big Bhudda for goodluck which he said worth thousands of dollar. I don’t know if that is true but it doesn’t matter anyway .. I was just very trusting and I believe all the things he said and promised …..that he will marry me someday.

I thought I was pretty lucky to have a man like him whose sweet, down to earth, generous, love kids, great dad to Felica, low profile despite of being successful and wealthy. Whose not gonna want a man like that.

Whenever were together, he would take me to expensive Restaurants, We will sit by his window in his condo and stare at the moon or listen to the sound of the wave while he puts his arms around me. We also sometimes spend time on his other houses in other island. He will take me to Spas. We did had a good time. We will take a walk to the beach hand in hand. He can be romantic, sending me flowers at work. I a m not bragging about all these because I am not proud and it is not a competition of how much Daniel spent on every women he lied about. In fact I feel really disgusted about these whole thing now.

My point is he had a way to make me believed about what he called pure love. I never doubted him once until it started to fall apart. That is how I began to investigate. Although, he had many excuses and answer for everything I know in my heart there is something to know about this man. I maybe have chosen to just not question him after finding about Onuma’s story but I did my own research until I came across Geri’s picture on the internet, and end up here on this blog and found out all these other women I never thought existed because Daniel said, “I was the ONE” and he is the one worth waiting for.

So yes, I was there for him when he needs me. But if I only knew then and found out the truth earlier and he did not die, I will face him and put him to shame. Because what he did to me, HE and other women was not right because we have feelings! We are humans!

Bernadette (01:23:20):

Hi HE, yes I guess you could say that I was fortunate because Daniel never assaulted me. He was always sweet to me . The only thing about him was that when he didn’t like my comment or opinion, he would shut me off . He will become defensive and sometimes argumentative.
He never take me to Nicks nor at Otani. We always go to W, Michells and La' Mer. He gave me the black pearl at W’s with a card. I know you are aware that he was a vegetarian but that night he broke the rule…..he ordered beef. He said that night was special. He never tell me why.

Yes, the house I was talking about is in Lanikai. The condo in Waikiki is facing the ocean. The house in big Island was in Waimea and the house in Kauai is also close to the beach.

Hah, I think he has song dedicated for each and everyone of us.

And your dream is freaky as well as the joke he left on my cell phone. He did died with his heart exploded from a bullet!

Dear Bernadette and Hazel,

I really appreciate this forum as a way to express these long hidden torments that GPD left as lasting gifts to me! I think I am on my way to real and sustained recovery and healing. The major ache in my heart though now concerns reaching those out there that may be left suffering similar torments or worse in the darkness of his legacy of lies. I guess my biggest questions are-What was the pornography in Asia comment by the FBI agent to me about? Was it true? I would tend to believe him. Was Jeana involved? Her co-conspirator behaviour in recruiting new love interests seems slimey at best. How could we get this message out to a broader audience? I can look over the past 6 years and see various tactics at work–First he isolated me then tried to discredit me. I played along with the crazy card to get distance from him and to be able to strike back at any time in unpredictable ways. I wanted to engender some type of fear from him and that vile camp. Second kept reaching out to me to break me and get me back into his fold. Third he kept up with his various fronts of great enlightened man Millennium Peace Child, “UN”…, Healing centers, show couple partner to Geri, blah, blah.

With his death comes the opportunity to potentially get some real answers. But How? It seems that on the one hand the fact could be that he really was a loving soulful family man with a few common vices (lying, womanizing, kidnapping a child out of custody fears[not a common vice but some could relate to that type of desperate behaviour], exaggerating his good works…) On the other side he could have been a rabid jihadist and front man for Asian pornography sex/drug trade going through Thailand and Amsterdam etc. I really do not want to claim to know where along that broad spectrum the answer lies. But I think that those of us here who have made an acquaintance through this marvelous site could put our creative energies into trying to get further into answering these questions. I guess the difficulty would be finding those like me and worse that he did not treat so gently. I know of a brothel like place in Honolulu he used to speak of and I had seen his truck outside of-this place was all asian ladies(girls really). But reaching these ladies would be extremely difficult or impossible. Any ideas?

I do hope that we could turn our experiences around somehow to be of help to others.

24 03 2007

Bernadette (09:25:45) :

Dear HE,

I am glad to hear of your recovery from this emotional torment Daniel left us.

In regards to reaching out for other possible victims, there maybe is a way to do that like you suggested from your previous comments. But I do think that Jeanna knows a lot and she is the only one can help us if only she would talk.
That is why it is important that she comes back to Canada and go to jail there than to die in Thailand of firing squad. If she dies, then she keep with her all the things she knows about Daniel Dubie. Who knows, she maybe knew something about Kristen as well.

Question…..Have you seen picture of Daniel with members of the UN? I saw this picture. He was there as well as Felicia. He also came to see me one afternoon wearing a blue vest and a name tag with his picture on it and a title CNN photographer written on it. What is this all about? That is why I believe him when he says he was busy all the time. He even told me that he was interviewed by CNN for his work of his film he directed “Souls at Bay”. Though I never seen that interview. I was just wondering since he lied so much if there is any truth about him being involve with CNN nor UN. I was reading the article in one of the news paper that it says the CNN denies knowing him at all. He also showed me a magazine with an article talking about him and his pictures was there on each page. In fairness he was looking good there like a model. It came from Indonesia and the words is Indonesian so I could not understand it. He told me that he was interviewed because of his contribution to poor people out there. I wanted that copy but he did not want me to have one. I remember looking it up on the internet but can’t find it. I just could not remember the name of the magazine now. Have you seen it? Just curious.

God Bless HE.

Dear HE and Bernadette, I am really happy you’ve found each other this site and some measure of healing. I’ve been catching up with my reading this morning and HE especially when we first met through here to today, i see new strength showing though. I am so proud to have had the opportunity to know you through this blog.

As for the pornography investigations, I have faith in what goneaway has said, as well as the honolulu detective who was doing the investigations into his fraud charges.

I also have faith more information will start to come to light.

Bernadette, i do believe I’ve seen footage of Daniel’s films I will look for some and link them here for you if I find any.
hawaiianeyes (15:52:15):

Dear Bernadette,

I think his UN & CNN affiliation claims were window dressing and exaggeration that he used to win others confidence and trust. He was involved with Peace Child International that has some support from the UN (also Herbalife). He was not a legitimate employee of the UN or CNN ever as far as I know. The news report from Indonesia saying that he represented the UN was really a translation error. A link to the translation error version is here and the next is a better translation which shows that states “Daniel Dubie, a world class director who often involved in UN’s documentary films told the plan while giving the award to Sanglah Hospital (The Bali Center Hospital), representing the Peace of Children International United Nation, in Denpasar, Thursday (3/12)”

Antara

U.N. Presents Citation To Denpasar General Hospital
Tuesday, December 03, 2002 4:56:31 PM

Denpasar, Bali - The United Nations has presented the Denpasar General Hospital a special citation for its efficient handling of the victims of the Bali bomb explosions last Oct 12 that killed almost 200 people and injured 300 others.

The UN, represented by Daniel Dubie, presented the citation to hospital director, Dr Lanang Budiartha, here on Tuesday.

The UN also gave individual citations to a number of doctors of the hospital for giving the victims their best service”

More reliable english version of the event:

“Bali Blast Tragedy brought to Hollywood
December 05, 2002 [Nusa - Editor]

The Kuta Saturday night blast killed almost 200 people inspired US movie director Daniel Dubie to make a special film about the tragedy.

Daniel Dubie, a world class director who often involved in UN’s documentary films told the plan while giving the award to Sanglah Hospital (The Bali Center Hospital), representing the Peace of Children International United Nation, in Denpasar, Thursday (3/12)

The big efforts of Sanglah Hospital in treating the victims inspired the director to make a movie about it. The film that will be produced under the Rindon Production is planned to involve the family of the blast victims in Bali and in various countries.

The movie that will be starred by two famous Hollywood celebrities, Patrick Swayze and Jennifer Love-Hewitt will tell about a romance between a surfer and a nurse while helping the victims of the blast.

The movie that predicted will attract world’s interest will be finished in about 18 months with US$ 4 million budget.”

Even in this contains the huge lie that he was going to do a 4 million dollar Hollywood romance movie with Patrick Swayze. I saw this posting immediately in 2002 and watched legitimate sites by Jennifer Love-Hewitt and Patrick Swayze. They never even listed that project as one under consideration. It seems to have been a complete GPD
He made lots of fake ID cards. He even made some for me. I refused to play along with that BS. I think his CNN press pass badge was probably a fake or fraudulent in some way.

I have some of his Indonesian photos where he is very “model” like. If there is a site to post these I could.

There was also a big article about him and his remarkable film history in a Dutch Magazine. I have all that as well.

He seemed to work very hard at building and maintaining an image of himself as a “world class director” as well as children- and peace-activist. He did in fact work with Peace Child International. But what I have seen is someone that used children and charities and disasters to further his aims that led to the neglect of children and fraud and abuse of others. He seemed to be slick enough to manipulate situations and people to his perpetual advantage.

Aloha,
HE

“When we create a container for our own anger, we set it free from the embroideries of blame and demand. Then and only then do we discover the underlying feelings that may be beckoning to us from past life and relationships. We see how this present existential anger is basically simple but has gathered complicated energy from past memories or hurts. This shows us where our work is, and we no longer attempt to dump it on someone else. We cannot do this work when anger is turned into drama and we are blinded by our affronted ego. The ego is terrified of grief and letting go. Drama-abuse is its way of getting around those threatening possibilities.”

Let me clear it up for everyone, TC thinks I am Hawaiin Eyes, she also thinks I am a woman by the name of heather, Debbie and probably a few others. I expect if properly approached she would be willing to believe I am santa clause.

TC is currently doing her utmost to ruin my online experience, i suspect because of all the attention this blog has generated specifically about the missing and murdered women in Canada. Ladies, there are big things afoot in my country at the moment and there are people out there who would like nothing more to not only quiet me, but also to discredit me.

Thats okay, they can do their best, but i am quite cogniscent of the fact there are many many other people who are beginning to pick up the torch.
hawaiianeyes (19:38:42):

Dear Hazel,

I am saddened to hear of your difficulties.

I think that TC is perhaps too well informed on private details of GPD (properties etc) to be a simple “troll”. It seems to me that TC was making provocative statements meant to inflame in a troll strategy but I think the author herself is sophisticated although the writing style was very rushed.

If there are forces a foot to disrupt these conversations that would not surprise me and may indicate that these communications are too close for certain folks to feel comfortable. Which I see as a good thing.

Keep up the good work!

Aloha,
HE

hawaiianeyes (19:49:09):

Dear Namaste,

I like your contributions very much! In a strange way you remind me of the very best of GPD-his abilities to dig deep into each situation and “re-create” it in a different “reality” so that there was a deeper message. That is extremely valuable and represents the best of what I think humanity is capable of.

So I agree and I have shed enough tears— that which would melt sugar– to know that my ego long ago essentially dissolved.

I appreciate your quote with the context of anger and that it needs to be removed from the self etc. I appreciate your caution regarding drama and the blindness that fear can bring to the soul. These are all part of my struggles and some days are better than others.

Still we live on multiple levels. There should be a mindful level of peace that is not tied to situations as you point to. But just like a traffic accident in which innocents are killed or maimed, we must be ready to take concrete actions. In this case GPD had a long history of reckless behaviour. I want to be sure that I take proper actions that are in keeping with my duty as a fellow human being to protect others from harm. I wish to do that without drama or fear or anger but grounded in the simple principles of unconditional love and truth.

Aloha,
HE

Sadly HE this person is no ordinary troll. They work out of a institutionalized server out of Ottawa Ontario. They are well informed because they have been following my work and interacting with me under a wide variety of different screen names, handles and personalities for over year now. They’ve pretended to be a criminologist, an journalist, the wife of a cop, as both males and as females.
As you said, this person is no ordinary troll, and yes there are forces at work who would like to silence conversations like these.

Hi Lee and Hazel,

I would strongly support a new thread devoted to an outreach effort (multi-lingual?) to reach other GPD targets. I feel convinced of an underlying truth of his rants to me about his underground life. Putting together our collective research resources to trace his comings and goings among his frequent trips which parallel many well know sex trade/human trafficking portals may ultimately lead to some break in many open cases that correlate to his travels.

There are deep pockets behind keeping this quiet and in hoping that interest will die out.

His life seems to me a bit like a giant 1 million piece jigsaw. Each of us has only a subset of the pieces. He purposely lived his life that way. I do think that rather than blindly “moving on” it is worth some perserverence on our parts as survivors of this confusing whirlwind of a man to be committed to the big picture and solving the puzzles that we can.

Dear Hazel,

I just did a “Google” search for “Daniel Dubie” and I notice that all the previous word.press hits are now scrubbed and come up with a word.press page saying:
“Tag: Daniel Dubie
Sorry, we don’t have any posts here with that tag. You may want to try one of the sites below.”

Unless a web searcher knew of this particular site it doesn’t appear that: it could be found by Google search with “Daniel Dubie”. It does come up by “George Patrick Dubie”. But he did not use his legal name with many of his targets.

Others out there looking for information on “Daniel Dubie” can find thaivisa and findkristen and the chiang mai update word.press but not this thread.

Do you know why this is? It seems to undermine the whole freedom of information exchange that is the strength of the www.
Bernadette was able to find this thread and learn about his well developed behaviour patterns. I would hope that this rich thread remains an available resource for others who may be prompted to search for answers.

Hi Dennis,

I think the Robin Sharan may know of the nannies that were at the Pupukea “ranch” during that time period. Perhaps you could write to her at the Annapurna healing center. She wrote into this thread wiht very honest and insightful comments.

I would not put too much stock in the names used though since GPD had a real penchant for having those close to him use various aliases. So perhaps she went by Mirabel or Annabelle (the later sounds vaguely familiar to me) or another name.

Kristen’s disappearance predates the purchase of the Pupukea compound so I feel a bit concerned about the credibility of the claim of seeing her personal items there. I think that the best information to be gone after is the flight records from GPD’s travels to Mexico and Central/South America. I know the assistant to Geri and Daniel at that time left Hawaii in terror at about the time I was taking legal actions against him. She would be very helpful if she were found now that he is deceased. I think that there are still folks terrorized by those two into silence that may remain fearful of retribution by Geri herself despite the death of GPD.

It is a tough problem– finding those with deep inside knowledge that are willing to come forward and share the pieces of this puzzle. If Geri and Jeanna were culpably involved, it would not be in their interest at all to share this.

His genius for finding authentic loyal women to surround himself with (making sure that they never found out that they were one of many “Love of my life” ladies) and hide behind complicates it even further because even after death they would naturally want to defend his reputation.

I remain committed to the long game here and I am optimistic that the walls of his evil empire will crumble piece by piece. Evil and lies and deceit led to his violent end and I remain horrified that he was able to suck me into that world and abuse me so badly for so long. Having seen all that I did I feel convinced that there are worse hidden actions and that we should not walk away but keep working at this in an abiding spirit of love and truth.

goneaway (12:49:00) :

I’ve questioned this before, but want to ask again.. is there anyway to get Jeannie(Margaret) to talk about Dubies dealings (we all know she knows a lot) in exchange for a lighter sentence?

Dennis, have you looked into that?

If she talked about all the crap, in exchange for a lighter sentence, all would benefit!!!!!!!
hawaiianeyes (09:12:14):

Hi Goneaway,

I talked to perhaps her “number one advocate” - Julia Jus from Chiang Mai. She came to Hawaii and we had dinner. I left that night feeling that either Julia genuinely does not know about misdeeds of “Jeannie” or that she is so close to her as to want to project the same abused woman front. There was not a single moment of doubt from her about Margaret although she said that she had not been that close to her before the murder but after the murder had felt a real calling to swoop in and give her all for the sake of the children.

I think that Jeannie, Geri, and maybe Felicia and perhaps even Sylvie do “know where the bodies are buried” so to speak. IF one or more of these women will never speak up out of fear of their own culpability or to follow his central command as he drilled in to me “KEEP YOUR MOUTH SHUT” then there are still ways to break through the walls of this dark fortress of deceit.

One idea would be to go after women who facilitated his misdeeds criminally or civilly. I do not know of the laws in BC but if you were witness to her abuse in Canada perhaps you could file complaint against her and advocate that Canadian authorities prosecute criminal negligence or obstruction of justice. This seems to be perhaps rather cruel - to take legal action against a person being held for murder in another country (whom we seem collectively to feel deserves some type of consideration due to the fact of having young children) BUT it is very wierd and disturbing that she approached you and Bernadette in a shopping mall. She very well could have been involved in Kristen’s shopping mall disappearance and other unsolved crimes from Hawaii.

I think that those of here now on this thread have a collective power that we should not underestimate. Our patient persistent voice can create pressure to advocate for truth and justice even if those left holding the bag(s of money) want us to hurry up and “move on”. There are scars left on me that will last a lifetime. I lost twins, nearly my life and my mind. Others lost everything.

Did Kristen loose her life? Is she in Central America, Tulum….

I advocated that she be offered immunity from Thai prosecution in exchange for complete testimony about GPD. Julia says that her case has attracted high level royal Thai interest in mercy and that she has been told to wait until Jan 08 at which time her case will be rather quietly dealt with with minor outcomes of some years of Thai prison at which point she may very likely be turned over to Canadian authorities. If this were to occur at that point pending actions against her in Canada could be braught forward. All this is a rather long process but the crimes that could be solved are themselves over 10 years old– at what point would Kristen’s parents “move on”? Obviously never so I feel that those of us who have been victimized or witnesses, should not walk away either. Thank you Goneaway for your voice and your drive to address the crimes you witnessed against young children. If you are able to file some type of action I wonder if Bernadette could provide written testimony about Jeannie’s involvement in her “recruitment” I have another police report from another woman with a similar story. I know first hand about child neglect here and I know another HI woman who also witnessed first hand this neglect over the course of years. So that is (without trying too hard to look) 5 potential witnesses to her accessory to fraud/child neglect-endangerment. If we do nothing, we are facilitating this darkness to some degree. I do not want to leave any avenue untried in my drive to battle this “evil empire” of fraud, addiction to power and control that cost the lives of the most vulnerable.

Hi all, please keep this blog going…… as a mother of three of dubie;s kids, I can tell you this is important for all info to come out. I pray that those that know more about the missing woman, Kristen will do the right thing and help this family find their child. There is nothing worse than having a child taken from you. Maggie and Syvie were involved in keeping my daughter, Calista, away from me for over six years. I know they must have information that they are

I know that Sylvie Bertin aka patti, mother of Felicia, shawn, Kalina and one more, was also met at a mall in Quebec City. She was told that Dubie was a movie producer or director and he was making a movie about single working women. He was helped by Sarada. Dubie needed a new angel to help him take care of my daughter Calista.

Hello Karin, thank you for your support and everything else. I’m so sorry to hear you and Calista were separated for so long. I don’t understand how any woman could be complicit in keeping another woman’s child from her.

hawaiianeyes (02:15:23):

Hi Kari,

Was Maggie ever directly prosecuted for her involvement as an accessory to the felony of kidnapping your daughter? There is no statute of limitation on felony. I do not know but I would think that your case involving international flight and the extraordinary horror of long years of duration of the kidnapping would make this case especially strong. Perhaps your pursuit of this type of action could provide the leverage to pressure Maggie to give complete testimony of GPD actions over her 20+ years “aiding and abetting” in exchange for immunity?

This is all quite speculative on my part. Please forgive my ignorance but I think that it is very likely that if nothing is pursued by any of us with knowledge of various aspects of this, that this case will be forgotten and Maggie may very well receive clemency and “keep [her] mouth shut” living out the rest of her life in silence on this topic.

I do hope that she can be restored to her children and an honest life but this cannot happen by silence. Each of us who has been in his world has had to walk away and speak up in order to be free of the chains of his intricate deceptions. In her letter to me in Jan, I did not see her doing that. She simply blamed him for being abusive and asked for me to believe in her. I believe that GPD was abusive but I do not believe he could act alone. I think that we each had a point at which we really saw what was happening and could walk/run out. I do not believe that she could not have had that realization in over 25 years and especially given all the stories of women she seemingly entrapped.

Hi, my friend A (hawaiianeyes) No, I never charged Maggie or George with kidnappning. I was contacted by Child finds “a way out” program, which is a way for the abducting parent a safe way to return the child without fear of prosecution. We communicated through a medeator named, Patrick Fear, he told me that George was willing to give me back Calista if I never pressed my own charges against him. He thought that him being in hiding for 7 years that the statute of limitaions would be gone and that he could return to a life not on the run. So, after three long days of mediation, I had Calista returned to me. I had to choose a place at least an hour away from my home and come alone and not get the police involved. I chose under the space needle, noon on August 5 1988. There before me I saw Maggie holding the hand of a much older Calista then the 2 year old she was when taken from me. I had the fear that they would try and fool me yet again, with maybe trying to kiddnapp me or even try and give me another persons child, but, there was not a doubt that this was my daughter. Maggie stayed with me for a couple of days then and tried to convince me that George had changed and had been good for all those years on the run and hoped that I would help him clear his name from his warrants in Hawaii. I know if I were able to talk directly with Maggie, I would know if she were holding back info and still just trying to save her own butt. I wish I could get a chance to speak with her. Do you all think this is possible??? Let me know. Sincerely, Kari Hi Lee, sorry for the confusion, I’ve put together a faq on how to join the discussion. Which is actually waiting to get started in earnest!

This is a new venture for me so I hope to iron out the bugs as we go along. If you have any further questions by all means contact me directly at hazel8500 at hotmail

Also, I passed on your request to HE, shouldn’t be long before you hear back.

Hi Kari,

I am so glad you got Calista back, I’m grateful for the program child find as you’ve described them here but think its terrible that a child could be used as a bargaining chip like that, we’ll give her back if… Whatever the case, just that you got her back is very hopeful to other mothers going through similar situations.

As for your question about it being possible to talk to Maggie, I think it might be.
I know she receives visitors for short periods and I know she is receiving and sending correspondence. How you would be able to get visitation or letters to her, I'm not sure. Maybe someone else may have a suggestion on that?

PS I hope you have a wonderful mother's day.

hawaiianeyes (06:05:00):

Hi Lee,

I think that by continuing to discuss the hundreds of little details that make up our collective experience we can make progress.

One strikingly consistent observation is Maggie's role in facilitating GPD's various cons and plans.

Do you know anything about his California travels? Does anyone know where and when he was shot (decades before his death). He showed me a scar and said that it was a bullet wound. He claimed it was from helping UNICEF children in Palestine during an attack from Israel. He also claimed to have been electrocuted in Australia while directing a film project and that he had been in a coma for months after being electrocuted and falling 30 ft.

Does anyone know his contacts in San Francisco? Does Francesca De Grandis (formerly went by the last name Dubie) have a connection to GPD? http://www.well.com/user/zthirdrd/

I wrote to her 4 years ago to ask and received a very angry response.

I do not know that we can solve Kristen's case. But I think that there is certainly a lot of evil that we could collectively shed light on.

Aloha,

HE

hawaiianeyes (06:26:36):

Hi Kari,

It is very heartbreaking to read of his bargaining. He also used civil mediation to get me to renounce pursuing criminal prosecution for a felony he committed against me that he admitted in the mediation documents. I later found out from the FBI that this mediation agreement was meaningless in the eyes of State and Federal Laws. A felony is a crime that the perpetrator commits that is punishable by the State or Federal courts. The victim NEVER loses the right to report felony acts to State or Federal authorities. If the State or Federal government chooses to it will prosecute and State of Hawaii vs GPD etc.

So I think that you still have a case. Despite the mediation. Anyway I don't suppose you ever agreed to give Maggie any protection. I think it is worth pursuing.

I hope you can contact Dennis Mahon.

He seems to be very interested in going to Chiang Mai to talk to Maggie directly also. I don't know if you would consider going to Thailand. There is an address to write to Maggie but it sounded like you felt you would need to see her in person.

Something about the name Fransesca De Grandis is very familiar.
I googled her, check this link out http://www.well.com/user/zthirdrd/vita.html
She talks about a seven year apprentice - ship to become a “fairy” sort of rings a bell, re: the story relayed by Mr. Ingraham about his apprenticeship to become a “warrior” by Dubie.
http://www.findkristen.com/34.html#anchor_7
Off to look at more stuff.

Yes HawaiianEyes, Francesca did go by Dubie, here’s an entry from the wiccan web http://www.wiccanweb.ca/wiki/index.php/Feri_Tradition
Another breakaway line is the Third Road school, led and taught by Francesca Dubie/De Grandis. Francesca claims that: “I completed a rigorous and rare seven-year training with Victor Anderson, to become a Celtic shaman, by being adopted into Victoris family which had kept the old ways — also called Faerie Tradition — intact.” The Third Road Tradition is regarded as a Feri-derived tradition, as is Pictish-Elven Witchcraft.

Wow, check this out there’s a “war” going on between fairy factions, oh this is too rich!
She said:

He Said:

I’d be rotflmao except for one thing, I’ve been plagued by the footsteps of some maniac calling himself Bill W. for some time now.??? WTF?

Hi Hazel,

Yes GPD gave me lots of books on Shamanism and talked about extensive spiritual training. He claimed to have gone thru budhist training, an ashram, and deep training in shaminism as well as an Hawaii cultural version of that. He built shrines and showed me how he took things of personal value to build the shrines. He felt that the world was his and that “the universe supports me”. He made all kinds of crazy bets and predictions to prove his power. It freaked him out though that I constantly had dreams that came true. This type of intuition or whatever is no parlor trick and he couldn’t explain it, escape it, or shut me down. So I think that all his so call Shamanistic power trip was basically extreme manipulations.

I have never wanted to get too far into these fringe groups. I have a very grounded career based in extremely objective reasoning. Still even in that I listen to my instincts and often find connections others in the field missed. I do not think that this is “psychic” or magic. I think it is just living life with eyes wide open, being thouroughly present, taking time to listen to the quiet signals we may overlook. In this way I busted him on his brain tumor fraud, his embezzelments, etc etc etc.

He told me that Geri was a very powerful “good witch” and that they practiced this together. If that is true that is very sad indeed. Especially now that apparently she is on the warpath to reclaim all “her” assets. I think it is very strange how GPD, Jeana and Geri were for years untouchable and arrogant and now all suffer horrors that perhaps they genuinely felt above.
Hi HE. He used to use his scars, back in my day, to either say he was in a hang-gliding accident (it never happened) and also that they were sign of the crucifixion, like Stigmata. I know most scars were from coral reefs while he was surfing. He was never shot that I know of. His favorite lies were of his ill health, this was always to get sympathy. I’m sure you’ve all heard his woefull cries of pain,,,,,,,,, either his head was bleeding or his stomach was filling up with blood or his kidneys were failing or brain fluid was ouzzing out,,,,etc.e.etc.etc. what a bunch of crock. Kari

Hi Kari,

Yes he was forever suffering –”blood” in his stomach was one of his favorite horrible maladies to claim. Another dozy was his inoperable Brain tumor with CAT scan that I think Maggie helped him fraudelently lift from a legitimate “Doug’s Brain Tumor” site onto a bogus medical form for him to convince Geri that he was dying. It would be funny if he weren’t so good at it using that to propel his frauds!

Do you know who Francesca Dubie (now DeGrandis) is or her Shamanistic Faery stuff? He told me that he was extensively trained in mystic arts by someone named Tom who put him through all kinds of exercises and tests in the late 80’s early 90’s. Do you think that they could have been involved in this San Francisco mall disappearance of Kristen? I ask because Dennis Mahon contacted me and is very eager to follow up any California links.
